600,000 State Motorists To Begin Signing for Gas

City Schools To Issue Cards From 8 to 5

By CELESTINE SIBLEY.

An estimated 600,000 Georgia owners of passenger cars will begin registering today for the government's little gasoline ration cards which will permit them to buy their weekly three gallons of gas.

Registration will begin at 8 o'clock this morning at all elementary schools in the city and at 3 o'clock this afternoon at all elementary and high schools in the county.

City elementary schools will close at 5 o'clock every afternoon but night sessions will be held at Commercial High, where white persons living within the city limits may register from 8 o'clock in the morning to 9 o'clock at night and at Howard, Washington, Crogman and Johnson Negro schools. Registration will continue through tomorrow and Thursday. County schools close at 7 o'clock at night.

Decatur city schools will be open for registration from 3:30 o'clock to 7 o'clock all three days "unless it appears necessary to change the hours," Lamar Ferguson, superintendent, said.

Registration schedule in DeKalb county was announced by Superintendent W. M. Rainey as follows: Today, 3 to 6 p. m.; Wednesday, 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.; Thursday, 3 to 6 p. m. All DeKalb high schools and junior high schools and Redan elementary schools will register motorists.

Certificates Required.

Motor vehicle registration certificates must be presented by the applicant before rationing cards are issued, OPA officials pointed out. Driver's licenses will not be taken instead and persons who do not have certificates must obtain them before they register. If it is after Thursday, they will have to obtain their ration card from their local rationing board.

The regular 50-cent fee charged by the state for issuing duplicates of automobile registration cards to those who lose them was suspended by order of Governor Talmadge. The executive order said the fee was being suspended in order to avoid working hardship on citizens.

Three types of cards are being issued—Card A, for owners of private passenger cars, allowing them seven squares or "units" of three gallons of gas each; Card B, issued to persons whose livelihood depends upon use of car, and Card X, issued to persons entitled to an unlimited supply of gasoline such as doctors, nurses, ministers, ambulances and hearses, and public conveyances.

"Meal" Tickets.

All of the cards to be issued will resemble meal tickets, and on the "A" cards, to which all motorists are entitled, there will be seven spaces for punching out by filling station attendants. Each space will represent an allowance of three gallons—or a total of 21 gallons which may be purchased between the start of rationing Friday and July 1.

Motorists who show that they must drive more than six miles a day but less than 10 will be issued B-1 cards, which will have 11 spaces; those who must drive 10 miles but less than 14, B-2 cards, which will have 15 spaces, and those who must drive 14 miles or more a day B-3 cards, which will have 19 units.

X cards will be issued at the schools for doctors, nurses, ministers, ambulances, taxicabs, buses, persons engaged in official business, hauling or messenger service or in the transportation of materials and construction equipment or work crews.

These cards will entitle the holders to unlimited purchase of gasoline but they will be subject to penalty if it is used for pleasure purposes.

NO TICKEE, NO GASOLINE—One of those who had lost her automobile registration certificate was Mrs. L. R. Braswell, of Atlanta. There were thousands more like her, prepared to pay the 50-cent fee for a duplicate, but Governor Talmadge wiped out the fee yesterday. Without the registration slip, an auto owner cannot register at gas ration headquarters.

Governor Saves Fee For Careless Autoists

By LAMAR Q. BALL.

By early afternoon, the ground floor of the state capitol was swarming with about 2,000 of those folks who—for the life of 'em—just couldn't imagine what had become of that little white slip of paper they had stuck away in that pitcher in the kitchen, or in the top right-hand dresser drawer, or in that copy of "Gone With the Wind" on top of the bookcase, or where the heck was the blamed thing?

Those 2,000 folks and more had been streaming in remorseful lines up to the windows of the motor vehicle unit of the state department of revenue, filling out little red blanks that attested their carelessness, planking down 50 cents on the barrel head as a fee for that carelessness and wandering away with duplicates of their automobile registration certificates.

Anybody who doesn't have his automobile registration record just can't get a gasoline rationing card from the federal government this week.

Then the Governor stepped in.

He issued a brief executive order.

"Whereas," he whereased, "the law now requires a payment of 50 cents to the motor vehicle unit of the Department of Revenue for issuance of a duplicate certificate of registration—

"Whereas, under the gas rationing program of the federal government each applicant must furnish a certificate—

O.M. Jackson New Regional Deputy of WPB

Speed in war production in the southeast was accelerated yesterday with the appointment of O. M. Jackson, of Atlanta, as deputy regional director of the War Production Board, a region covering the seven states of North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Florida.

Deputy Director Jackson's appointment was announced yesterday afternoon by Frank H. Neely, WPB director in the southeastern area.

Jackson's appointment means the opening of a full-time office in the Candler building to press forward the conversion of all manufacturing plants from their normal production into the necessary channels of war work.

"Jackson's job," said Neely, "will be a full 24-hour-a-day drive toward the increase of war production to expedite the war effort."

Director Donald Nelson, in Washington, will continue to set policies for the WPB and to make nation-wide decisions.

"Jackson's job," said Neely, "will be to handle the operating end of the WPB work in this area and, specifically, to see that closer co-operation is maintained among the war industries.

"Washington will set the policies and the region will see that business will be carried on according to those policies."

Jackson, 38 years old, has been granted leave of absence by the Georgia Power Company to handle this war job for the duration of the emergency.

A native of Atlanta, educated in the public schools of this city and a graduate of Oglethorpe University, Jackson has been with the Georgia Power Company for 16 years, his job having been to develop new business for that company among commercial and residential users of light and power.

Expert Warns On Coral Sea Over-Optimism

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, May 11.—(AP)—The possibility that Japanese invasion troops perished by the shipload in the Coral sea battle was advanced today by competent informants who emphasized that Allied announcements of enemy losses thus far have made little mention of damage to transport units known to have been part of the enemy force.

Conservative and still incomplete reports of the epic battle have listed only two Japanese transports or supply ships sunk and two more damaged but these observers said that when the full score is tabulated it may include a greater number of Japanese troop carriers.

The officially announced number of Japanese ships sunk or badly damaged in waters northeast of Australia in the last seven days stood at 21. A communique from General MacArthur's headquarters early today added two submarines sunk or damaged to the previously announced 19, but these figured in an action separate from the Coral sea engagement.

Reinforcements Reported.

United States and Australian ships and planes continued on the alert for additional signs of the enemy although there was no true indication that he had reformed his forces for another test of Allied fire and steel.

(The Nazi-controlled Paris radio broadcast a report that powerful Japanese naval forces had arrived in the Coral sea for resumption of the battle but confirmation was lacking.

(The Berlin radio, however, said that Tokyo now considers the Coral sea battle as "concluded.")

While the uneasy lull existed a solemn warning came from Sir Keith Murdoch, one of Australia's leading editors, against overoptimism at what the Allies have achieved to date.

"It is sheer folly to say that we have smashed an invasion fleet," he said, reflecting the same note of caution stressed by General MacArthur himself.

"Expedition Beginning."

"The naval and air engagement in the Coral sea was against a comparatively light Japanese force, not against the main Japanese fleet.

"What must be realized is that a large Japanese expedition is beginning.

"Three things come clearly out of the Coral sea engagement:

"1. The Japanese have a big movement of troops on hand; 2. We have had losses, which, although less than the enemy's, are more difficult than his to replace immediately; and 3. We need rapid and great reinforcements in both planes and ships."

General MacArthur conferred again today with Prime Minister John Curtin for the second time in two days and general Sir Thomas Blamey discussed the general war outlook and the implications of the Coral sea battle with Army Minister Francis Forde.

NAZI GUNS IN ACTION.

A TOWN ON THE ENGLISH SOUTHEAST COAST, May 11.—(AP)—German heavy guns on the French coast were in action early tonight for the first time in weeks.

THE "MINUTE MAN" CALLS—Scenes like this were typical in Fulton and DeKalb counties yesterday as an army of volunteers made a house-to-house canvas, obtaining pledges from citizens to purchase war bonds and stamps. Here, a volunteer, J. B. Rucker, is greeted cheerfully by Mrs. C. C. Welch, of 16 Grove Park place, N. W.

Bond Pledge Drive Off to Good Start

Fulton county's tremendous war bond drive to raise its May quota of $2,146,400 and make a house-to-house canvass getting pledges of steady purchases for the duration got away to an enthusiastic start yesterday with campaign officials expressing confidence success was certain.

List Closes Today In Mayoralty Race

Deadline for qualifying in the May 27 mayoralty election to select a successor to Mayor Roy LeCraw, who resigned to enter military service, is 5 o'clock this afternoon.

The Second Ward Alliance has invited all qualified candidates to speak at a rally at 8 o'clock tonight at the Kirkwood school, and the nine candidates already have qualified and are expected to be there to open campaigns in earnest.

About 35,000 Atlantans will be qualified to cast ballots in the election, the largest number in local history, Joe L. Richardson, city clerk, said. Candidates now in the race are Mayor Lyle, James R. Bachman, G. Dan Bridges, Howard Haire, former Mayor William B. Hartsfield, Dewey L. Johnson, Frank H. Reynolds, James Vickers and John A. White.

Though it was impossible to get an accurate estimate of yesterday's pledges by last night, Marion Allen, internal revenue collector for the state and in charge of Georgia's bond campaign, said he was sure "good old Fulton" would come through.

Allen said he had reports that the "majority" of counties in the state had already reached their quota and in many cases exceeded them. He said Ware county was the first county to reach its quota and also complete its house-to-house canvass. Bleckley county, he said, was the first to reach its quota.

In DeKalb county, where the quota was only $46,000, J. C. Haynes, chairman, reported that $100,000 had already been raised after a drive in Decatur yesterday by members of the American Women's Voluntary Services.

"All we had to do was ring door bells and people signed," one worker said.

By last night hundreds of Atlantans who'd never tried to sell anything before went eagerly about their task of selling bonds. One young man, fearing that he would be mistaken for a Fuller brush man, had a pretty young lady with him and reported that he had no trouble whatever getting pledges. All of the civilian defense workers who are making the canvass last night told C. J. Currie and General E. G. Peyton that they were being received royally by Atlantans, who were making pledges freely.

One canvasser reported he got one man to pledge 10 per cent of what his income taxes were last year and then called his wife and got her to do the same.

General Peyton said that he felt the campaign would "go over big" as great enthusiasm has been shown by the civilian defense workers. He said the campaign would serve as a test "for our chain of command and its efficiency."

Lucas & Jenkins theaters in Macon, Savannah and Atlanta have each purchased a $50,000 bond to give the state drive for $5,700,000 for May a push.

Chinese Block Japs' Burma Reinforcements

CHUNGKING, China, May 11.—(AP)—Chinese lines of entrapment held fast tonight around the remnants of a Japanese column enveloped and slaughtered on the Burma road despite the shock of reinforcements rushed from Burma by the frustrated invaders of Free China's back door.

Two hundred and fifty miles south of this dramatic scene of Japanese annihilation, another all but forgotten Chinese army, bypassed by the reckless and headlong Japanese dash up through the Shan states, was officially reported to have smashed three attacks by a fresh Japanese column in the Loilem sector near the River Salween.

In western Yunnan province, where the Burma road begins its tortuous ascent on Chinese soil, the hapless Japanese column which is reported to have lost 4,500 shock troops in the Chefang trap, and which has turned about to try and reach safety, still was surrounded by the Chinese, the high command said.

General Lung Yun, governor of Yunnan province, said in a statement that the situation was developing in China's favor, but warned of the possibility the Japanese might attempt to drive on Kunming.

Japanese reinforcements rushed up from Burma were intercepted before they could reach the Chinese cordon and heavy fighting was in progress, a communique added.

The result of this battle remained in doubt. The Chinese, however, were receiving air support from the American Volunteer Group, which shot down two Japanese planes yesterday.

The high command claimed a clear-cut victory for the Chinese force which, down on the Salween front, dealt out more than 500 casualties to a Japanese column attempting to advance last week from Loilem to Kongkum on the Salween.

The Chinese stopped three Japanese thrusts, one supported by tanks and the final one bolstered by land reinforcements and aircraft.

Pétain Hastens Back to Vichy, Awaits Martinique Disclosures

VICHY, May 11.—(AP)—Chief of State Marshal Petain hurried back toward Vichy tonight for reasons of "imperious concern" as this capital awaited developments in the United States-Martinique negotiations, and as the British—now called "the enemy" here—sought to extend their foothold on the French island of Madagascar.

The aged marshal and his wife were expected tomorrow morning after cutting short their Riviera vacation because of undisclosed "events." (Presumably Washington's action in dealing directly with Admiral Georges Robert, French high commissioner in Martinique, for a new "arrangement" about that French Caribbean island, instead of with pro-Axis Pierre Laval, was one of the "events" dictating Petain's return.)

Nine youthful members of Jacques Doriot's Rightist, Collaborationist party paraded yesterday before the American embassy here, shouting "Down with the United States; long live France."

Several hundred other Frenchmen soon booed them off the scene, calling them "pigs" and "traitors."

The announcement of Petain's return was the first public knowledge of his absence. He and Laval, his chief of government, have been in telephone communication daily.

An authorized source said that Laval was unable to make a decision concerning Martinique until he had heard from Vichy's ambassador to Washington, Gaston Henri-Haye.

(Henri-Haye conferred with Secretary of State Hull on the "delicate problem" today, but the results of the meeting were not disclosed.)

(The German radio broadcast a Vichy dispatch saying the United States had demanded that French warships in Martinique be demobilized and that United States garrisons be permitted on the Caribbean island.)

French sources here emphasized that Martinique held the Bank of France's bullion reserves, and one source also stressed the fact that the three French warships there were "in perfect condition." The warships are the aircraft carrier Bearn and two cruisers, Jeanne D'Arc and Emile Bertin.

5-Months' Lull Is Broken by Hard Fighting

MOSCOW, Tuesday, May 12.—(AP)—The first big Nazi spring thrust began yesterday in the eastern Crimea with a lunge toward Kerch, a key peninsular point along the shortest possible hop to the Soviet's Caucasion oil riches, the Russians announced at midnight.

"During May 11 in the Kerch peninsula," the communique said, "our troops waged stubborn battles against the German Fascist troops who had taken the offensive."

This departure from the customary "nothing to report" phrase after relative quiet since December indicated the Germans had begun a large-scale movement toward the oil fields so heavily prized by Adolf Hitler that he has expended uncounted thousands of lives in previous efforts to get them.

Terrain Hard, Dry.

Thus, as many observers, including the Soviet military leaders, had expected, the Germans' main effort appears to be directed at smashing across the narrow Kerch peninsula, not only to grab the rich fuel deposits, but also to be in a position to turn the Allied middle eastern flank in another oil kingdom, Iran.

The Crimea was the first sector of the Russian front to shake off the paralyzing winter which aided in thwarting the Germans' drive toward Moscow last November.

When an Associated Press correspondent traveled through the Caucasus in mid-April the terrain already was hard and dry—ready again to provide a footing for the Nazis' mechanized might and the challenging iron monsters marshaled by the Soviets.

Two Deterrents.

But the Germans have had two deterrents on the Crimea front—the fact that the Russians are so firmly entrenched in the town of Kerch after hurling the Nazis out of the area last December and the fact that the Russian defenders of Sevastopol have put up such a heroic battle to hold that important Soviet port at the southwestern end of the island.

To the Russians it has been obvious that one of Hitler's main 1942 objectives would be the Caucasus. Many believe Germany's most pressing need is oil if she is to continue the war.

The Russian grip is Sevastopol remains a steady threat to any German push in the Kerch area. The Soviets estimate that approximately 50,000 Nazis have died on the deadly approaches to that besieged city.

Preliminary reports did not give the exact strength of the sizable Nazi push toward Kerch. Nor is it known just how much of the Kerch area is held by the Russians, who have had months to fortify their hold.

After Hitler's winter campaign fizzled, the Russians took the offensive and pushed the Germans back some 30 miles from Kerch and recaptured the Crimean port of Feodosiya, but later were forced to abandon the latter.

In other sectors, last night's communique said, there were no material changes during the day. It listed 38 German planes destroyed yesterday to 12 Soviet losses.

All-Out Assault On Leningrad Seen

LONDON, May 11.—(AP)—Leningrad's rooftop spotters have reported Germans working waist-deep in chill water to prepare assault trenches, Soviet dispatches said today, and belief was expressed that the Nazis might be planning an all-out attack on the stubborn city that has held out for eight months against encirclement.

With its outskirts still under German artillery fire and its admiralty building in spyglass view of the German lines, the city reported that other air and ground activities of the Germans indicated they may be turning their attention to a new attempt to reduce the city.

Five Miners Killed In Arkansas Blast

FORT SMITH, Ark., May 11.—(AP)—Five miners were killed and two others injured seriously in an explosion at the Peerless Coal Company mine at Excelsior, 15 miles southwest of here late today.

W. H. Lewis, of Greenwood, president of the mining company, said the accident apparently was caused by the explosion of gas or dust. He said the five had been killed instantly.

Violence Answers Reports of Closer Vichy-Axis Ties

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Saboteurs have wrecked Radio Paris, the key broadcasting station for Nazi propaganda in Occupied France and the station is silent for the first time since the Germans marched into Paris nearly two years ago, the London Daily Mail reported in a dispatch from the French frontier today.

Constitution Staff Photo—Bill Mason.
ON WPB'S FIRING LINE—O. M. Jackson, of Atlanta, appointed yesterday as deputy regional director of the WPB in the southeast.

"The giant masts and pylons at Bourges, 130 miles south of Paris, were destroyed by a gigantic dynamite explosion Saturday," the dispatch said.

"Reports reaching here from Bourges declared the damage will take weeks to repair. Masts, pylons and aerials were shattered and twisted. Transmitting and relaying machinery was wrecked."

Famous Restaurant Blasted.

Reports of the wrecking of Radio Paris were received at the same time as private advices from the continent that the famous old Paris restaurant Marguery, on the Boulevard Bonne-Nouvelle, had been dynamited.

Several were reported killed in the Marguery, but the extent of the damage was not known.

These acts of violence coincided with persistent rumors of imminent military collaboration between Vichy and the Axis.

Stockholm heard that a high German personage presumably Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering, was in Paris negotiating with French collaborationists, and Swedish correspondents in Berlin hinted that Vichy was facing important decisions on its relations with the Allied powers—i. e., the United States—and with Germany.

Differences With Italy.

The problem of French-German military co-operation is complicated by French-Italian differences, said the Berlin correspondent of the Nya Dagligt Allehanda, of Stockholm, but he believes that France would have to accept a regulation of her relations with Italy.

French militarists are inclined to armed collaboration with Germany since British occupation of Madagascar, the correspondent said.

In addition to the Paris dynamitings, it was reported that 20 hostages had been shot near Rouen because of the killing of five German sailors. Five also were shot at St. Auben, 50 others were condemned to be executed if the killers of the Germans are not found by mid-May, and 500 more were ordered deported to eastern territories.

Railway Sabotaged.

In Norway, said reports reaching Stockholm, British electrical experts smuggled into the country sabotaged the Transhams electrified railway south of Trondheim.

The line runs between the big Orkla sulphur mine and the sea. A big transformer was said to have been blown up, and the guard was reported found with a 1,000-crown note in his pocket.

Moscow radio reports told of large, mysterious fires in Nazi-controlled Belgian iron foundries, and said ammunition factory inspectors found that the explosives had been removed from 1,500,000 cartridges.

O. M. Jackson New Regional Deputy of WPB

the WPB, Jackson will work closely with the Army, the Navy and the Maritime Commission and make the south's productive and manufacturing facilities available for the demands of those war agencies.

"The new office of the WPB," said Director Neely, "will see that orders for war production get into the factories and that all factories hit their production peak."

Jackson, it was emphasized, is no dollar-a-year man. He's a full-time worker on the government pay roll, with no private attachments to disturb his drive toward impartial operation of the WPB activities.

"I expect to serve the armed forces," he said, "by making available for them all the facilities in this region. I also intend to help manufacturers stay in business by an impartial distribution of the war work."

The regional offices of WPB, it was explained, are now active authorities in carrying out policies set by Director Nelson in Washington. The area headquarters will be the operating end of the efficient set-up that Nelson has arranged for the nation.

Three More Ships Attacked Off Coast

LAKE WORTH, Fla., May 11.—(AP)—Three merchant ships, two American and one British, were torpedoed off the Atlantic coast recently with the loss of at least six lives.

Survivors of one of the ships said an American naval vessel fired at the two enemy submarines but both apparently escaped unhurt. A merchantman was in the line of fire of the Navy vessel.

Two of the attacks were announced by the Navy department tonight.

Bulgarian Jews Called Into Labor Battalions

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), May 11.—(AP)—DNB reported in a dispatch from Sofia today that 1,000 Bulgarian Jews were "called up" Monday to start work building a railway line and that 2,300 more will be employed later. The Jews will be forced to wear a yellow band on the left sleeve. This is the first time Jews have been so marked in Bulgaria, DNB said.

Hitler Learned War From Japs, Skvirsky Says

Reverse Often Thought True, Photographer Says Here.

Hitler probably got many of his ideas about world conquest and racial supremacy from Japan, and not Japan from Hitler, Leonid Z. V. Skvirsky, Atlanta photographer, who spent most of his life in the orient, told members of the Military Order of the World War here yesterday.

"Japan has been preparing for this war for many years and has brought up its people in a war-like philosophy," Skvirsky declared at a meeting in the Atlanta Athletic Club.

"They did not learn of the ways of force, brutality and cruel treatment of conquered nations by watching the Germans," he said. "They already knew about those things."

Skvirsky predicted that the main theater of war will eventually be in the North Pacific and not the South Pacific.

Commander Jesse Draper, who will leave soon for a Naval station in Brazil, was honor guest at the meeting. Members of the order had designated the meeting as "Jesse Draper Day."

Camden Holds 7 in Roundup Of Burglaries

$1,500 in Stolen Goods Recovered, State Bureau Announces.

The Georgia Bureau of Investigation yesterday reported the arrest of seven men, ranging in age from 17 to 35, following an outbreak of burglaries and tire thefts in Camden county.

Captain S. W. Roper said some of the loot, which amounted to about $1,500, was recovered. The stolen goods included gas, tires, sugar and cigarets, and the losses were mostly from schools, filling stations and stores around Kingsland, Ga.

Those arrested, and being held at the county jail in Woodbine, Ga., are: Milton Reddrick, 26, charged with receiving stolen goods; Richard Roberson, 17, charged with five burglary counts and four larceny from auto counts; of burglary and two of larceny; Charlie Jones, 20, charged with two counts of burglary and two of larceny; Edward McKendree, 23, two counts of burglary and one of larceny; J. D. Peeples, 24, two counts Wilburn Smithie, 35, receiving stolen goods; and Connie Hickox, 23, receiving stolen goods.

Nathan Ballenger Surrenders After Discovery of Mate's Body.

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP)—Several hours after the lightly clad body of pretty Mrs. Ruth Ballenger, 26, was found strangled in her bedroom, her husband, Nathan, surrendered tonight to police.

Ths husband, sought by 30 detectives for questioning following discovery of Mrs. Ballenger's body after she failed to appear at a mah jong party, gave himself up to police of the Wadsworth Avenue station. No charge was placed against him.

Police Captain Thomas V. Hannigan said the husband, employed by a furniture exchange, once had threatened to kill his wife and himself and had suffered from delusions. Ballenger had intended to see a psychiatrist, Hannigan said.

Mrs. Ballenger's body was discovered lying between twin beds in the bedroom of her three-room apartment in Upper Manhattan by two friends, Mrs. Elaine Gladstein and Mrs. Dorothy Richman, and the building superintendent.

Alarmed at Mrs. Ballenger's failure to appear at 1 p. m. at a party or to answer repeated telephone calls, the two women sought the aid of the superintendent.

Marks were found on the dead woman's throat.

Police established that Mrs. Ballenger was still alive at 10 a. m. At that time, her mother-in-law, Mrs. William Ballenger, telephoned to inquire why her son had not called to take his father to business.

Captain Hannigan said Mrs. Ballenger told her mother-in-law that "he (the husband) is right here in bed and he won't get up. I haven't been able to get him up."

U. S. Doctor In Argentina To See Ortiz

Operation To Be Performed on Ailing President.

BUENOS AIRES, May 11.—(AP) Dr. Ramon Castroviejo, New York eye specialist, arrived today to perform an operation on inactive President Roberto Ortiz which, if successful, may drastically alter Argentina's political future.

The youthful-looking surgeon, maintaining professional reserve, would not say that he had come specifically to treat the President, but it had been previously reported that he was coming at the request of President Roosevelt, who had been asked by Ortiz's son on a visit to the United States to recommend an eye specialist.

"Of course," said Dr. Castroviejo, "if any Argentine oculist asks me to see President Ortiz I will be glad to do so." He was accompanied by a secretary-nurse.

Meanwhile, in the presidential residence the excitement induced by the specialist's arrival was evinced by a stream of political figures seeking an audience with the invalid chief executive. Ortiz himself awaited the doctor's first call calmly.

Failing eyesight and diabetes forced Ortiz to withdraw from active executive duties two years ago, and his successor pro tem, Dr. Ramon S. Castillo, the acting President, has pursued a policy of strict neutrality in the face of war declarations or diplomatic breaks with the Axis by all the other American republics except Chile.

Whatever Ortiz may have thought of this policy, he has kept his counsel, but in private conversations he has spoken fervently of his faith in democracy and his admiration of President Roosevelt's championship of its cause.

Army-Navy Teamwork Lauded

By PAT ROBINSON.

AN ADVANCED UNITED NATIONS BASE IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, May 11.—(INS) Courageous American pilots nearly scraping the masts of Japanese warships to press home their attacks with bombs and torpedoes . . . an enemy aircraft carrier sinking within 10 minutes like a red ball of fire . . . towering geysers shooting up from the water amid an inferno of gunfire and explosions.

This was the picture of last week's great battle of the Coral sea as presented today for the first time by one of its participants, a navigator of the United States Army Air Corps, Lieutenant Bob Elliott, of Simsbury, Conn.

Giving eyewitnesses details of the history-making engagement, Elliott told of American fliers braving the most torrid, point-blank antiaircraft fire to lunge down on ships of the enemy flotilla as American naval surface units began hammering at the foe with their guns. He told of dizzy aerial combats waged high above the scene of the tempestuous battle which he described as "an awesome, glorious sight."

Army-Navy Team.

The United States Army fliers and the men of the Navy worked like a team in scoring the smashing victory over the Japanese armada. Army planes first found that armada trying to sneak south and Army bombers took part in the grand assault when it was at its height.

"Our dive bombers did remarkable work," Elliott said. "I watched them going in mast-high, despite a rain of ackack (antiaircraft shelling) and machinegun fire, and pressing home their attacks with bombs and aerial torpedoes.

"I saw them get one Jap aircraft carrier which sank in flames within ten minutes.

"I also saw our boys shooting down attacking enemy planes, one of them especially being hit from the side as our pilot outmaneuvered the Jap, giving his gunner a clean shot at the enemy.

"The sea was an inferno.

Sky Full of Planes.

"I could see our bombs either hitting directly on the Jap ships or sending up huge geysers of water as they burst near by. Those near-misses often do more damage than a direct hit, since they can pull a ship's seams apart.

"The sky seemed full of planes—whirling, diving, fighting. It was an awesome, glorious sight. I wouldn't have missed it for anything.

"Those boys of the Army and Navy were magnificent and both should get equal credit."

Elliott was the navigator of a bomber skippered by Lieutenant Arnold "Skid" Johnson, of New York. This bomber shot down a Japanese seaplane 100 miles from the nearest land point. The seaplane's pilot baled out, but was drowned.

Modest Saroyan Asks $250,000 For 'My Greatest Play,' Unseen

HOLLYWOOD, May 11.—(AP)—Playwright William Saroyan offered to sell, sight unseen, "My greast play" to MGM studio, but the studio said it let the noon deadline slip by today without taking up the offer.

Saroyan, who walked off the MGM lot a week ago because the company refused to let him produce and direct his play, "The Human Comedy," wrote the same studio that it could have his new play for a mere $250,000.

"After New York production," Saroyan wrote from his home in San Francisco, "the play will be offered to the highest bidder over and above the established minimum of $300,000." This is a sum about twice as large as ever paid for any film play.

Saroyan concluded by saying he believes that in all probability his new play, titled "Get Away Old Man," would win both the Pulitzer prize and the dramatic critics' award.

MGM paid him $60,000 for his first screen story.

8 U. S. Ship Crewmen Are Landed in Recife

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 11.—(AP) Eight members of the crew of the 5,102-ton United States freighter Lamont du Pont, torpedoed near Bermuda April 23, have been landed in Recife, the Brazilian government made known today. The fate of 42 crew members was not known.

After two days in lifeboats they were rescued by the Swedish motorship Astri, which transferred them three days ago to a Brazil-bound ship.

Swedish Trade Pact Announced by Finns

HELSINKI, Finland, May 11.—(AP)—The government announced today a trade pact under which Sweden agreed to send Finland 35,000,000 crowns' worth of iron, steel and machinery this year.

Sweden also granted this country a 35,000,000 crown credit for food purchases from Denmark.

Prado Pledges Support of Peru For Allied Victory

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—President Manuel Prado, of Peru, delivering the first speech ever made to congress by a foreign President, pledged his nation today to work for a United Nations victory and predicted that Peru would be "a factor of real importance" in defending the Western hemisphere.

The speech, made separately in the senate and house, brought President Prado's five-day visit to Washington to a climax. He left tonight for Detroit where he will tour war production plants tomorrow.

"In the name of Peru, whose destinies I have the honor to guide, I reiterate in this supreme moment her spontaneous adherence to the international policy of President Roosevelt," the Peruvian chief executive said.

Cheered and Applauded.

He declared that Peru, which has broken relations with Germany, Japan and Italy and which is co-operating fully in the hemispheric defense program, "could not hesitate for a single moment in adopting a definite and decided position in the face of the outbreak of forces which are trying to drown in blood every notion of freedom in order to perpetuate over the planet a system of racial hegemony . . ."

The President, speaking English with difficulty, was cheered and applauded in both the house and senate.

Although kings, foreign ministers, generals and princes have spoken before congress, the Library of Congress said Dr. Prado was the first foreign President ever to have the privilege.

Guest of F. D. R.

The Peruvian President is in the United States as the guest of President Roosevelt and the United States government.

He told congress that Peru offers "without reservation" her forests, minerals, hydro-electric wealth and agriculture to the war effort.

Peru, he added, "is engaged in fulfilling the imperatives of the hour with indomitable decision and absolute faith, for the triumph of the principles that inspire the great cause of democracy."

He praised the United States' war effort and described the country as "the brain, heart and propelling impulse of the titanic fight for freedom and democracy."

Guarded by Troops.

Steel-helmeted troops, armed with bayoneted rifles, hemmed the Capitol steps as Dr. Prado was ushered toward the senate. There, he was introduced by Vice President Wallace. In both houses, he was taken to the well after his speeches and introduced to all members present.

After a coast-to-coast broadcast this afternoon, President Prado and his party said farewells to government officials, headed by Secretary of State Hull, and left by train for Detroit. Tomorrow, the President and his party will visit the Ford River Rouge plant, the Chrysler tank arsenal and the Dodge proving grounds. Later, the party will go to Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Boston, New York and West Point.

Citizens Buy Many Bonds At Whitehall

By DAN MAGILL.

ATHENS, Ga., May 11.—Probably you never heard of Whitehall but if every little town in the nation could boast of a record like Whitehall's, Uncle Sam wouldn't have much worrying to do in his present emergency.

Whitehall is a town of nearly 800 population, a majority of whom are engaged in mill work. Last fall 500 employes of two mills there voluntarily agreed to have a certain amount deducted from their pay envelopes to buy war bonds and stamps. Last fall, mind you. Long before the big drive started.

Since then, $1,500 every month has gone to Uncle Sam. But the Whitehall folks weren't satisfied. Came the new war bond drive a few days ago and Whitehall workers signed up for an additional $1,500 a month, 10 per cent of the salaries.

In addition to that, Whitehall has contributed another $1,500 to help buy a soup kitchen, to the Red Cross, Naval Relief Society, U. S. O. and to the Women's Field Army for Control of Cancer, going over the top in every last single one of them in exceeding its quotas.

Prado Talk Praised By Congressmen

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—Members of congress praised enthusiastically today the address of President Manuel Prado of Peru to the United States senate, in which he pledged Peru's co-operation with this country in the war effort.

"It was a wonderful speech," said Senator Austin, of Vermont, the assistant Republican leader. "President Prado has the idea that is more powerful than armies—that it is the spirit and the collaboration of peoples that win battles."

Senator Hill, of Alabama, the Democratic whip, commented that President Prado's utterances should "stimulate the hearts and strengthen the faith of Americans everywhere in victory and the triumph of justice."

Drop in Peach Production Is Seen in South

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—A southern peach crop this year of 21,907,000 bushels, 2,996,000 less than that of 1941, was predicted today by the Agriculture Department.

The production last year was a record. The average for the 10 southern states between 1930 and 1939 was 14,505,000 bushels.

The May 1 condition of freestone peaches in California was reported about average and that of clingstones five points above average. While no figures were given, the department said large crops of both types were in prospect in California.

The prospective 1942 crops and the actual productions in 1941 included:

North Carolina, 2,642,000 and 3,167,000 bushels; South Carolina, 3,650,000 and 4,095,000; Georgia, 6,438,000 and 7,100,00; Florida, 115,000 and and 90,000; Alabama, 2,030,000 and 2,464,00; Mississippi, 1,159,000 and 1,394,000; Arkansas, 2,747,000 and 3,032,000; Louisiana, 369,000 and 334,000; Oklahoma, 657,000 and 742,000; Texas, 2,100,000 and 2,475,000.

Columbus Church Fire To Be Probed

COLUMBUS, Ga., May 11.—(AP) As members of the congregation and other Columbus citizens, today viewed the charred wreckage of St. Luke's Methodist church, one of the oldest in the city, Mayor Edward Murrah announced that a thorough investigation would be made into the blaze, which destroyed the structure Sunday, with plans for the inquiry to be shaped at a meeting of the city commission Tuesday.

The mayor did not detail reasons for the investigation but said "We have heard so much criticism you may rest assured we are going into this thoroughly."

In Atlanta, the office of State Fire Marshal B. W. Crawford declined to discuss the fire but it was understood that a state investigation had been asked.

The fire, starting in the basement, caused damage estimated by church officials at $250,000. Most church records were saved. All of the city's fire equipment fought the flames for more than four hours.

St. Luke's was organized in 1829, a year after Columbus was incorporated. The burned building was occupied in 1900.

The fire occurred Sunday morning, forcing soldiers and civilians to attend Mother's Day services in other churches.

Panic in Tokyo Caused by Raid, Army Reveals

U. S. Broadcasters Urged To Keep Composed If Nation Is Bombed.

CLEVELAND, May 11.—(AP)—The Army's recent raid on Tokyo showed that Japan apparently had "no internal defense against psychological warfare, no linking of national effort to combat panic," Colonel R. Ernest Dupuy, of the War Department's Bureau of Public Relations declared today.

"Some day we are going to get a token air raid," Colonel Dupuy added. "Its objective will be the production of fear, panic and uncertainty in the minds of our people. Are we going to play it like soldiers, or are we going to cackle and squawk on the air like barnyard hens when a hawk flies over?"

"The bombers who performed that task winged their way in broad daylight, riding the radio beam of a Japanese station which at that time was broadcasting a little rhapsody on the scenic beauties of Japan, nestling peacefully in the assurance that it could never be bombed. Suddenly he went off the air. The radio monitor in the bomber formation heard the Jap announcer scream 'Enemy bombers coming! Coming fast! Many bombers!'

"As the bomb sticks whirled down, this Nip announcer kept on the job. Screaming in high-pitched panic, he called our shots in a play-by-play description, noted the fires caused, shouted casualty bulletins. Our ships received the fullest information."

Byron Price, censorship director, told the broadcasters:

"You are in actual contact with the enemy, whose submarines are listening near our shores." Nevertheless the people must have comprehensive news about the war, Price said, appealing for application of "the rules of reason" to newscasts.

Quorum Lacking For Police Group

Politics and the May 27 mayoralty race have virtually stopped the functioning of city council's police committee because three of the five members of the group are candidates for the mayor's job.

Lieutenant Marvin Thomas, of the city traffic bureau, said no meeting will be held of the Atlanta traffic board this week, because the police group has not had a quorum for the last two meetings.

Alderman G. Dan Bridges and Councilmen Howard Haire and George B. Lyle, all members of the police committee, also are aspirants to fill the unexpired term of former Mayor LeCraw.

India's Military Setup Reorganized To Meet Threats

NEW DELHI, India, May 11. — (AP) — Britain's commander in India, General Sir Archibald P. Wavell, was disclosed tonight to have reorganized the three Indian military commands into powerful and competent mobile armies to meet land or sea attack from the Japanese on eastern or southern India.

WINS WINGS — James A. Cotton, former student at Georgia Evening College, has received his wings as an ensign in the Navy and has been ordered to active duty, it was announced here yesterday by the Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board.

With the Japanese still reported marshalling a Bengal invasion fleet at Rangoon, and with only the gallant but exhausted force of General Harold Alexander standing between the enemy and the northern gate to India, Wavell upset the 100-year-old Indian military policy by which the strongest imperial forces were held on the northwest frontier.

His primary purpose was, however, to divorce the administrative functions of the Army from the fighting units so that the defense along the coast and the eastern and northern frontiers would become the sole function of the fighting forces.

Northeast Reinforced.

Three Army commands were created—northeast, south and northwest. The vast central area will be administered under the Central India command, whose major function will be to train new defense forces.

Most of the trained British and Indian forces are now expected to be concentrated in the armies of the northeast and south. No change in command was involved.

Other defense preparations of an undisclosable nature increased as the Japanese persisted in thier action on India proper, and while Alexander's Burma Army continued its retreat up the Chindwin river valley of northwest Burma.

What effect the recent bombings of east India have had on the population of Calcutta, the major city most directly threatened, was not disclosed. It is known that preparations have been made in all major coastal cities for the mass migration of the populations to inland villages.

Magwe Blasted.

The British-American bombing campaign went forward against the rear war Japanese bases in Burma.

This time, the Royal Air Force struck heavily at Magwe, which lies just to the south of the ruined Yenangyaung oil fields in central Burma, and strewed bombs over the runways of the enemy-held airdrome.

Returning from this action, a British pilot engaged by a squadron of Japanese fighter planes crippled one of them. All British craft returned safely.

A New Delhi communique announced a Japanese raid yesterday on a small town in eastern Assam in which both casualties and damage were moderate.

Indian Town Attacked.

Axis reports told of an attack on the Indian town of Imphal (Manipur), 40 miles west of the Burma frontier.

In the theater of the Indian ocean, the best available information here indicated that the British forces which seized the naval harbor of Diego Suarez, on the Vichy French island of Madagascar were continuing occupation of other important points on the island.

Vichy radio reports were to the effect that resistance continued, but this was assumed to refer only to the action of small, isolated French units.

The destruction by French troops of the airfield at Anivarano and of all gasoline stores of the French air force also was reported in Vichy.

Allied Retreat To India Reported

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts) May 11.—(AP)—DNB carried a dispatch from Bangkok today saying that British-Indian forces in Burma, after attempting to hold up the Japanese on the Irrawaddy river, abandoned hope of co-operating with Chinese forces and started a retreat toward Assam, India.

These British-Indian forces, DNB said, were concentrated at Monywa, about 55 miles west of Mandalay. A Japanese vanguard, it was reported, cut off and finally occupied Monywa, capturing a large quantity of war material.

After occupying Monywa, the dispatch said, the Japanese advanced northward and occupied Budalin, 45 miles north of Mandalay, and Tabayin, 45 miles north of Monywa.

USO Chairmen For Fund Drive To Meet Today

Georgia Must Provide $407,000 as Share in Campaign.

Chairmen and co-chairmen of the coming drive to raise Georgia's share of the $32,000,000 USO fund for providing soldiers and sailors with "the nearest thing to home life" while in the service will gather at the Piedmont hotel at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The chief speaker will be Kenneth Kenneth-Smith, executive assistant to the national chairman of the USO campaign. Others will be F. Herbert Wells, of New York; Judge Frank D. Foley, of Columbus, president of the Georgia Bar Association and state USO chairman, and Major Trammell Scott, of the Southern Baseball Association.

Georgia's share of the fund is $407,000. Serving with Judge Foley on the Georgia committee are Preston Arkwright, Cason Callaway, Ralph McGill, George C. Biggers, Charles Haughey, Eugene Oberdorfer and Clarence Haverty.

Tourists Assured Gas To Get Home

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 11. (AP)—Gasoline for Florida tourists and students to return to their home states and assured today in a rationing adjustment by the OPA in Washington.

Walter C. Sherman, Florida rationing administrator, obtained the adjustment so that winter visitors with children in the public schools could remain in the state until schools close later this month. Adjustments also will apply to seasonal workers.

ZANUCK IN LONDON.

LONDON, May 11.—(AP)—Colonel Darryl Zanuck, of Hollywood, has arrived in London on a military mission, it was announced today. Zanuck said he was in Britain as a "special observer" for the chief of the Signal Corps.

Is Your Child HANDICAPPED?

Of every ten children classified at school as backward, five are found to have defective vision. Poor grades, a dislike of school, headaches, a cross disposition, all are the direct result of deficiencies of eyesight. An unfortunate thing about defective vision is that it is often impossible to detect without a thorough examination. A fortunate thing is that almost every case can be easily corrected with a proper fitting of glasses. Your child deserves perfect vision. Have his, or her, eyes examined before school starts.

British Sea Captain Receives Legion Medal for Halifax

Finds Life on Ship Dull, But Atlanta Magnificent.

By CELESTINE SIBLEY.

A modern counterpart of Captain Horatio Hornblower, that romantic, hard-fighting officer in the British Royal Navy, blew into Atlanta yesterday as the personal representative of Lord Halifax and his sole description of life on the bounding main, World War II, style, is:

"It's very dull."

Atlanta, on the other hand, is "most magnificent."

And, added Captain H. T. W. Pawsey, commanding officer of an unnamed British armed merchant ship, "I like the green stuff in Atlanta."

Ruddy, sun-tanned Captain Pawsey, immaculate in his dress whites, came here to bring the American Legion and all Atlanta the personal compliments of British Ambassador Halifax and to receive the medal which Atlanta American Legion Post No. 1, awarded Lord Halifax for his essay on Americanism. He made a brief speech of appreciation at a dinner at the Legion home last night and prepared to take the medal back to Lord Halifax, who was too busy in Washington to come and get it.

Captain Pawsey, who has been in the service of his majesty's navy since 1905, has been engaged recently in the north Atlantic but he insists his ship, whose name he cannot disclose, is in Baltimore not for repairs but for routine "wash and brush up."

Taken on a sightseeing tour of Atlanta by Hugh Howell, chairman of the Legion Americanism committee, and Commander Gladstone Pitt, of the Legion post, Captain Pawsey liked the "green stuff" of the parks, found the cyclorama "simply astounding" and wished that England had a system like the Naval ROTC at Tech for preparing undergraduates for naval careers.

Sixty per cent of Britain's naval officers come from her naval academy, Dartmouth, Captain Pawsey said, the others come through "the lower deck," and the army gets most of the young men from the colleges.

Captain Pawsey has a 23-year-old son, a lieutenant in the Royal Navy, whom he hasn't seen since their ships landed in the same ports once early in the war. Captain Pawsey's wife and daughter are in England.

Stambaugh Urges More Concentration on Victory.

"We've got to make war our only business if we are to get what we want—victory at the earliest possible moment," Lynn U. Stambaugh, national commander of the American Legion, told members of Atlanta Post No. 1 last night at a dinner in his honor.

Commander Stambaugh, a Fargo, N. D., lawyer who is on a tour of posts throughout the country, believes "because of the fact that we are a great nation" it may be possible eventually to win the war by conducting it on a "half-and-half basis" with the country half at war and half at peace.

"But that is not what we want," the speaker said. "We want victory at the earliest possible moment.

"While we are about the job of winning the war we also should recognize the fact that we're going to have to handle the aftermath of war more successfully than we handled the last one. We must do that if it is to be more than a mere interlude between wars with the next war much tougher."

Stambaugh, a second lieutenant in the field artillery during the last war, said most of the boys in the American Legion were "rarin'" for active service but that the ages of most of them relegated them to civilian work.

He listed among the important war-time chores of the Legion training of air raid wardens and conducting bond pledge drives.

Commander Stambaugh expects to leave this afternoon for Providence, R. I. He is accompanied on his tour by Jack Williams, his aide.

Koreans Seek Recognition of Free Republic

23,000,000 Patriots Described as Ready To Sabotage Japs.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—The Korean-American Council said today that 23,000,000 Koreans now living under the rule of Tokyo could "build a bonfire in the backyard of Japan."

James H. R. Cromwell, president of the council, wrote Secretary Hull that Koreans had a "blueprint for revolution by arson" directed against the Japanese who seized Korea early in this century.

Cromwell said, however, that the Korean patriots could not be released for a revolt until the United States government, "by recognizing the de facto government of the republic of Korea (located at Chungking, the Free China capital) fulfills the pledge of the President of the United States and the prime minister of Great Britain that 'they wish to see sovereign rights and self-government restored to those who have been forcibly deprived of them.'"

Teachers Get Citations for Public Service

270,000 To Be Presented Certificates for Aid to Rationing.

Regional OPA Administrator Oscar Strauss Jr., announced yesterday certificates of merit would be presented to approximately 270,000 school teachers and others who served as registrars in last week's sugar rationing registration in the southeast.

The certificates will be awarded by the Office of Price Administration in this region for the executive office of the President.

They will record that the registrar "patriotically and freely sacrificed time and personal convenience to serve" and will be awarded in "recognition of meritorious service to the public welfare," Strauss said.

The same registrars will serve in the gasoline registration beginning today and Strauss expressed confidence "the same high devotion to duty will be witnessed."

One Mile Is Held Walking Distance

Long-legged Oscar R. Strauss Jr., regional OPA administrator for the eight southeastern states, tried to find the definition yesterday for gasoline-rationed residents of his neck of the woods.

"For this region," ruled Strauss, "we'll consider walking distance as ranging between half-mile and a mile. The physical condition, length of legs, age and customs of the individual will have to be taken into account.

Legion Decides To Streamline '42 Convention

Annual Gathering Will Be Stripped of All Fanfare.

CHICAGO, May 11. — (AP) — A small, short, streamlined convention—stripped of traditional crowd-drawing features and formal frolic—was planned today by the American Legion.

Setting a significant war-time precedent for large annual gatherings, the organization's convention liaison committee announced that the 1942 conclave would be confined to a week-end business meeting of a limited number of delegates and officials to avoid placing a burden on the nation's transportation facilities.

The committee recommended that the sessions be held September 19, 20 and 21 at the Legion's permanent national headquarters in Indianapolis. National Commander Lynn U. Stambaugh telephoned his approval from Atlanta, Ga. The plans will be voted upon by telegraph by members of the national executive committee within the next few days and their decision will be made public by Stambaugh.

Plans Cancelled.

Previous plans to convene in New Orleans were cancelled on the advice of the Office of Defense Transportation.

The committee decided to eliminate the annual big parade, the drum corps contests and other spectacular attractions. It suggested also that attendance be confined to 10 per cent of the regular number of delegates and national officers and members of standing committees who are essential to the Legion's program.

The committee chairman, Leo J. Duster, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, stated that even a normal session, "requiring an attendance of upwards of 5,000 delegates, alternates, members of standing committees and the staff of national headquarters, and the transfer of Legion records from headquarters at Indianapolis," would tax transportation facilities.

Small Delegation.

Duster estimated that this year's meeting would be attended by 400 or 500 delegates and officials. By way of contract, last year's convention drew approximately 1,500 delegates alone. It was calculated that the 1939 gathering attracted 225,000 visitors to Chicago and 100,000 marched in the mammoth parade.

Thus it was indicated that the 1942 conclave would be robbed of most of the din and color and free style fun that had been associated with the Legion at mass scale rallies from coast to coast.

Duster reported that invitations had been received from Cincinnati, Des Moines, Detroit, Kansas City, Omaha and St. Louis.

Democrats Name Liaison Contacts

Appointment in each Georgia congressional district of a contact man to represent national Democratic party headquarters, was announced yesterday by Chairman James S. Peters, of the State Democratic executive committee.

The contact men, it was announced, will maintain liaison and co-ordination throughout the party. The appointments, it was said, will not overlap or conflict with existing Democratic organizations in the congressional areas.

WPB Reduces Processing of Cocoa Beans

30 Per Cent Curtailment in Grinding Goes Into Effect.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—The War Production Board today ordered a 30 per cent reduction in the grinding of cocoa beans, source of the chocolate used in breakfast cocoa, chocolate candy and soda fountain syrup.

The action, which does not regulate deliveries of cocoa products to consumers or industrial users, is effective upon the grinders and pressers of cocoa beans immediately.

It was necessitated, WPB said, by the shortage of shipping space which resulted in imports during the first three months of 1942 equal to only 34 per cent of consumption.

The 30 per cent cut will remain in effect until the end of June, and the percentage for the next three months will depend upon the "supply prospects for that period," WPB stated.

The United States is the world's largest consumer of cocoa beans, which are imported from Africa's gold coast, Brazil, and other tropical areas, and consumption amounts to about four pounds per person annually. The greatest use is in candy, cocoa butter and confectionery.

Shipping space allocated to cocoa beans for the last nine months of this year has been cut to 20 per cent of estimated normal consumption for that period, WPB reported. However, this country's supply of cocoa beans on April 1 was around 452,000,00 pounds, or something under a year's supply on an unrestricted basis. The new order is designed to make that supply last about 16 months.

As a check upon stocks of cocoa beans in the hands of processers, WPB ruled that any processer having more than 50,000 pounds on hand, or in transit to him on May 1, must report his supplies to WPB by June 1.

The order exempted the processing of beans for specified agencies or persons directly connected with the war program, including the Red Cross, United Service organizations, operators of Army camp restaurants and post exchanges.

Order Restricts Glass Containers

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—Thinner and plainer glass containers were ordered by the War Production Board today, so as to permit manufacturers to turn out an estimated 30 per cent more jars, glasses and bottles with the same amount of material.

Beer, ale and other malt-beverage bottles were restricted to three sizes, 12 fluid ounces, one quart and one-half gallon.

Bottles containing whisky or other distilled spirits were limited to one quart, four-fifths quart, pint and half-pint sizes.

The decree, effective today, also froze all bottle designs to existing molds. Exceptions allow the packing of products never previously packed in glass; the manufacture of lighter glass containers and the manufacture of glass bottles on machines previously used for other materials.

Manufacturers of plywood have been notified that restrictions may be placed on use of the product for nonessential building.

The notification, along with proposals for increased output of Douglas fir and Ponderosa pine plywood lumbers, was delivered at a recent meeting of the softwood plywood industry advisory committee, Arthur T. Upson, chief of WPB's lumber and lumber products branch, announced.

Limited use in food products of soya bean oil, cocoanut oil and other oils having glycerine content, will be permitted during the summer months.

These oils, as well as babassu nut oil, palm kernel oil and others, are an important source of glycerine needed for explosives manufacture, and previously were reserved for that purpose.

Pointing out that such oils grow rancid in hot weather, WPB officials said it was decided to permit each manufacturer of any edible product to use in June and July 50 per cent of the amount he used in the corresponding months of 1941. In August and September, he may use 25 per cent. The amendment expires September 30, WPB said, and food manufacturers will get no further extension. Oils left in their hands at that time will be frozen.

WPB said it expected sufficient peanut oil to be on the market by autumn to replace high glycerine content oils in the manufacture of food products.

Canada Slashes Tourist Gas Quota

OTTAWA, May 11. — (AP) — The gasoline ration allowance for United States and other tourists in Canada will be drastically reduced May 15, Munitions Minister C. D. Howe announced today, "because of the increasing gravity of the gasoline shortage in Canada."

A new order, issued by Oil Controller G. R. Cottrelle, of Toronto, and approved by R. C. Bekinshaw, chairman of the Wartime Industries Control Board, will abolish the 20-unit coupon book which has been provided for tourists remaining in Canada more than 48 hours. This book is good for 100 imperial gallons under the present quota.

WOULD CANCEL TAX.

City council's tax committee yesterday recommended that the $94 city tax bill against the Habersham chapter, D. A. R., on Fifteenth street, be cancelled. The action was taken after officials of the group explained that all revenues, except dues, have been cut off because of patriotic efforts of members. The proposal goes to city council Monday for action by that body.

Sparks Wins Alabama Primary by 6,071 Votes

MOBILE, Ala., May 11.—(AP)—Chauncey Sparks, Eufaula bachelor lawyer, won the Democratic nomination for Governor by a majority of 6,071 votes over four opponents in last Tuesday's primary, according to official votes certified to Chairman Gessner T. McCorvey, of the party's state executive committee, by the 67 counties.

Sparks was credited with 145,798 ballots in the tabulation prepared by McCorvey for submission to a party subcommittee which will canvass the returns.

Lower Income Tax Exemptions Urged By Henderson

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—Leon Henderson, price administrator, strongly recommended lower personal income tax exemptions to the House Ways and Means Committee today and advocated stabilization of wages to help combat a "highly" explosive threat of inflation.

After discussing the problems for two hours behind closed doors, he told newspapermen he had indorsed Secretary Morgenthau's proposal that exemptions for single persons be cut from $750 to $600, those for married couples from $1,500 to $1,200 and for dependents from $400 to $300.

Then he added, without elaboration:

"As a matter of fact, my own thoughts carry me to even more drastic reductions in income exemptions."

Members of the committee said they obtained the impression from Henderson's discussion that he soon might recommend to President Roosevelt an outright freezing of wages as another step to control inflation.

Freezing of Wages.

Some members of the committee said they got the impression from Henderson's discussion that he soon might recommend to President Roosevelt an outright freezing of wages as another step to control inflation. However, another committeeman said Henderson was "pretty cagey" on wages.

But Henderson would say at an impromptu press conference outside the committee room only that stabilization of wages, like heavy taxes and other related actions, were all needed to retard increased prices.

(President Roosevelt already has called for wage stabilization. His program does not call for freezing all wages but for keeping "wages in general" at existing scales.)

Predict Inflation.

Henderson predicted that by December the supply of civilian goods would be about 24 per cent below the January level "and that brings us to the per capita basis of 1935." Ten or 12 months after December, he predicted, "we will be down to the per capita of 1932, with about 280 to 300 per cent of the per capita income."

"If that isn't enough for a potential (inflation), I don't know one when I see one," he remarked. "For that reason I was urging the committee to consider the added seriousness of the potential in connection with the tax program, pointing out that even with every bit of control and stabilization we can get the situation is highly explosive."

Henderson disclosed he vigorously had opposed a sales tax, asserting it would add "to our difficulties in doing a rationing job in the lowest income groups."

Billion-Dollar Increase.

His appearance came as the committee prepared to vote on higher individual income taxes. Morgenthau told the committee in a letter last week that his lower personal exemptions would add $1,100,000,000 to the $3,200,000,000 he estimated his original program of individual taxes would produce.

He had recommended retention of the present 4 per cent normal tax, but with elimination of the earned income credit, and asked for much higher surtaxes—beginning with 12 per cent of the first $500 of taxable income, compared with the present minimum of 6 per cent of the first $2,000.

The committee's experts brought forward as an alternative last week less steeply graduated surtaxes but normal taxes starting at 6 per cent.

Britain Holds Edge in Threat To Use Poison

By DREW MIDDLETON.

LONDON, May 11.—(AP)—Competent military observers said tonight the scales were heavily weighted in favor of Britain and her allies if Germany tried to break the Russian deadlock with poison gas in the face of Winston Churchill's assurance that the RAF would retaliate with the same weapon against the Third Reich.

Britain, these experts said, has the air power to launch a gas offensive which would cripple communications, drive industrial workers from factories and possibly strike a damaging blow at German morale.

Dispersal of gas from planes flying at 27,000 feet is "perfectly feasible," they added, and they pointed out that within the last month four-motored RAF bombers have been able to bomb targets on the German Baltic coast, in Czechoslovakia and in Italy.

Precautions against German gas warfare—which caused 180,983 British front-line casualties in the first World War—have constituted a cardinal point of British war strategy since this conflict began.

Anti-Gas Measures.

Laboratories, training schools and industries have been storing gas and investigating new means of dispersal. Anti-gas measures, involving gas masks for all civilians and extensively equipped decontamination squads and shelters, date back to Munich days.

Any liquid gas can be sprayed from the air by replacing the bomb racks of Britain's big aircraft with tanks of the chemical. Ejected at an altitude of several miles, the gas would reach the ground in a fine mist. This, say experts, could immobilize entire sections of such factory towns as Stuttgart, paralyze naval shore installations like those at Kiel and close railroad centers and roads for many hours.

Despite the immediate danger of reprisal, some military observers believe, however, that the temptation to the Germans to use gas in Russia is growing.

The German army is engaged in positional warfare on most fronts, and the areas through which it hopes to drive this year are studded with strong points which vary in size from a small village to a large fortified area.

Changed Conditions.

In Poland, Flanders and France, the Germans moved around these areas and reduced them at leisure. Against Russia they found this impossible. Hence their need to neutralize these positions and check counterattacks.

Gas would be a cheaper and easier method of overcoming these points than assault by armored and infantry divisions. Latest figures show there is one gas battalion per corps in the German army and some German tanks are equipped for the emission of gas.

Forrest Wilson, Author, Dies at 59

WESTON, Conn., May 11.—(AP) Forrest Wilson, 59, newspaperman, soldier and author, died yesterday less than a week after winning the Pulitzer prize for biography.

He won the prize for "Crusader in Crinoline," a life of Harriett Beecher Stowe published in March, 1941, and was collecting material for a book about James and Dolly Madison.

Wilosn was born in Warren, Ohio, graduated from Allegheny College and spent many years as a newspaperman. He was a Washington correspondent for Scripps newspapers from 1910 to 1916 and European correspondent for McCall's magazine from 1923 to 1927.

Ceiling on Non-Ferrous Foundry Prices Ordered

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP) Price Administrator Leon Henderson today imposed ceilings on non-ferrous foundry prices at the levels prevailing between October 1-15, 1941.

Henderson said that foundries accounting for more than 70 per cent of the country's output agreed last January to hold prices to that level. There has been no indication of noncompliance by the other 30 per cent of the industry, Henderson said, but a formal ceiling was established "to insure that the whole industry complies."

Affected by the order are such items as brass, bronze and aluminum castings, valves, gears, bearings, propellers and cylinder heads.

Coal Dealers Feel Effect of WPB Warning

Upsurge in Buying Is Seen Here; No Shortage Yet.

Atlantans bought more coal than on any similar day during this season of the year in many years, officials reported, although denying there is any difficulty in obtaining the fuel—yet.

Some dealers reported "shipments are getting slower" and coal can't be obtained "as rapidly as we would like," but most had enough coal on hand to take care of their immediate needs, even considering the upsurge in buying.

Herbert L. Horne, president of the Horne Coal Company, said he believed "everybody has enough" and that he expected the buying spurt to "level out" within two or three months when buyers get stocked up.

However, dealers seem to feel coal users should buy as much of their winter coal supply as possible now to avert a serious shortage—and possibly coal rationing—later.

U. S. Anti-Trust Suits Upheld By High Court

Illegal Price-Fixing Charged to Ten Large Firms.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—The supreme court today upheld the Justice Department's anti-trust suits against 10 leading firms in the hardboard industry and the Univis Lens Company, maker of bifocal eye glasses. It ruled that agency and licensing agreements in these fields constituted illegal price-fixing even though patents were involved.

The holder of a patent "cannot control the resale price of patented articles which he has sold . . . by stipulating for price maintenance by his vendees" without violating the Sherman anti-trust act, the court said. There was no dissent in either of the two cases.

The hardboard case involved agreements made by the Masonite Corpation of Chicago with nine other companies which manufactured or sold building material. Masonite holds patents on hardboard, a synthetic board made of wood chips. Some of the other firms hold patents on competitive products.

Shore Lights Ordered Dimmed in California

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—(AP)—A nightly dim-out of lights visible from the ocean was ordered today for northern California.

The Office of Civilian Defense issued the order, at the request of Rear Admiral J. W. Greenslade, commandant of the twelfth naval district.

The area in which such lights must be dimmed or extinguished extends from the Santa Maria river, north to the Oregon line. Effective tonight, the order affects street lights, advertising and commercial lighting, residential and industrial windows, and street and highway traffic; all lights, in fact, that can be seen from the ocean.

Dentist Revealed as Inventor Of Newest Rubber Substitute

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—A West Virginia dentist, it developed today, is the inventor who has excited government experts by declaring he can make a rubber substitute from natural gas, coal, wood and grain.

Dr. Glenn L. Casto, of Spencer, W. Va., who talked with reporters in company with Senator Kilgore, Democrat, West Virginia, was modest about his product. He said it was no "cure all" for the present lack of natural rubber, but declared it had:

Been used to make a new automobile tire which already has run 4,300 miles and is continuing to give good service.

In Actual Use.

Been used to retread a tire which was run 10,000 miles and, when removed for examination, was found to have one-third the tread remaining.

News of the inventor's claims leaked out of government agencies some 10 days ago. At that time, the word was that samples shown by the inventor had qualities superior to synthetic rubber and equal to or superior to crude. The inventor was not telling his formula, however, and government experts were keeping their fingers crossed while a laboratory was being built for a show-down test.

Dr. Casto said that what is under construction is not a laboratory but a pilot test plant in West Virginia.

This plant, he said, will soon be turning out several thousand pounds of his product a day to be used in large-scale tests on commercial vehicles.

As for the financial end, he said, "We have not asked the government for any money, nor have they volunteered any financial support even for experimental work."

Offers Method.

He was ready, he added, to make his method available to any producer designated by the government for the duration of the war, provided only that his basic rights after the war were protected.

His product is not, he emphasized, a synthetic rubber, but has physical properties akin to crude rubber while differing from it in chemical properties.

Furthermore, he asserted that plants for mass production of the product could be constructed quickly and would require very little of the critical war materials of which there is a shortage. The product itself, he said, could be produced cheaply by quantity methods.

Casto was educated at Ohio State University. His training for his profession included instruction in chemistry, and he said he had, as a hobby, made chemical experiments for many years.

U. of Georgia Graduate Killed in Plane Crash

CHARLOTTE, N. C., May 11.—(AP)—Second Lieutenant Harold D. Hays, 25, was injured fatally in the crash of his P-40 pursuit plane at Morris Field here yesterday, the post headquarters announced today.

Hays was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix B. Hays, of near Lewisburg, Tenn. He was graduated from the University of Georgia in 1940 and was commissioned February 20, 1942.

A board of officers was selected to investigate the accident, which occurred as Lieutenant Hays was coming in for a landing after a training flight.

To Phonograph Fans: Save Your Old Records

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP)—It may be, say music shop proprietors, that phonograph record fans soon will have to turn in one of their old numbers for every new recording they buy.

The reason is that record manufacturers are asking retailers to turn in one old record for every three new ones purchased.

ManyProblems After War Seen By First Lady

Win the Struggle First, However, Is Advice of Mrs. Roosevelt.

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP)—The United States cannot win a peace until it has won the war, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today told a forum on the future world order.

But the problems confronting Americans in the post-war world will be manifold, she said.

"We must learn how to wipe out the systems which have created this war," Mrs. Roosevelt declared, "and still not hate the people who have been the victims of these systems.

"We must face the fact that the world has grown smaller. There is no longer any thought of isolation. Consequently, we must begin to think in terms of 'citizens of the world.'

"We must devise an economy that provides a home and a job. And this economy must be satisfactory, not to just a few, but to the majority of people.

"We must approach the postwar period with an open mind, creating world-wide experiments which will be beneficial to the world as a whole.

"And we must not merely pay lip-service to a beneficial new order, we must feel the justness of it in our hearts."

Mrs. Roosevelt said she was not sure what form the new world order would take, but that she was convinced its concepts were to be found in true democracy.

She added that the United States must set an example for every other nation, race and creed. She said that the decision must be met that the day of the "white man's burden is over," and that the United States should co-operate with all the world's races, treating them as equals.

Board Studies Naming Of Beeler's Successor

The Grady board of trustees yesterday appeared no nearer to selecting a successor to Dr. J. Moss Beeler, resigned superintendent of Grady hospital, than it was last Saturday, Councilman Frank Wilson, member of the group, said.

Wilson was named temporary superintendent after Mr. Beeler quit his post last Saturday, and Wilson and Joe Ray, of the city comptroller's office, were at Grady administering the institution. Wilson said the board is proceeding slowly because of its desire to obtain the best possible man for the post.

Mangham Subpoena Ruling Is Issued

Judge John D. Humphries ruled yesterday that neither the state commissioner of labor nor the director of unemployment compensation may compel J. J. Mangham, Bremen, Ga., banker and contractor, to answer a subpoena to appear at the state capitol issued by the Fulton superior court.

If this decision is upheld in the higher courts, it was said yesterday that it would mean that the director of the compensation act would have to conduct hearings in the home county of each employer he wishes to question regarding the eligibility of his employes and other disputed points under the act.

In the hearing yesterday Unemployment Director W. D. Dickerson was represented by former Governor Clifford Walker and Assistant Attorney General A. L. Henson. Mangham, a resident of Haralson county, was represented by Boykin & Boykin, of Carrollton.

ATLANTA, GA., MAY 12, 1942.

Germany, Beware!

Prime Minister Winston Churchill, of Britain, in his speech of Sunday, sounded a solemn and serious warning to Germany. He told the German people that if their Nazi leadership began the use of poison gas on any war front, the British were prepared to use that fearful weapon themselves, in amount that would make all German gas use insignificant by comparison.

Germany, through the ages, has been a bullying, braggart nation when able to inflict her power upon other peoples. She has been brutal and utterly heartless so long as the wars she began did not come home to her own lands and her own people.

In the first World War, Germany was a strong and powerful foe just so long as the battle lines were drawn upon the fields of France and Belgium. As soon as the victorious Allies began to press close to German soil, German morale broke, the Kaiser fled and German might melted overnight.

In this war, all spokesmen of the Nazis have spouted trash about German invincibility—until the cities and the people of Germany began to feel the return of the same horrors they had visited upon others.

As the RAF gained air superiority over the Luftwaffe in the west and as the cities of Germany were smashed into smoking, burning heaps of rubble, it was Germany that whined a plea for mutual cessation of bombing attacks. London, and all Britain, proved the British people can "take it" during the blitzes of 1940-41. Germany is proving, quickly, that the German people cannot take it, as the RAF returns in kind the bombs that Nazi flyers loosed over England.

Germany has been responsible for the horrors that have engulfed the world in our time. Germany began the first World War. Germany began this later war for world conquest.

Germany began the bombing and machine-gunning of civilians in unresisting cities.

Already Germany is weeping, once again, as her ghastly chickens come home to roost.

Germans should know, by this time, that any use of poison gas against the Russians or on any war front will bring reprisal so overwhelming that they can know no hope.

Winston Churchill has warned. If Germany disregards that warning, the consequences will be, literally, upon her own head. There will be no easy acknowledgement, this time, of the cry of the beaten bully, "Kamerad!"

Stacking of the Books

The appeal by the Victory Book Campaign asking the nation's college and university seniors to join in a "stacking of the books" at their commencement exercises during the coming weeks is an idea that should meet with full co-operation from both graduates and officials of educational institutions.

At the same time, it furnishes to the public at large a vivid contrast between the American way of life and the Nazi way. Because it was just nine years ago this month that something entirely different happened in Hitler's Germany. There, the Huns gloried and gloated over a spectacle that made civilized men and women all over the world blush with shame. The infamous occasion referred to was the "burning of the books," when the Nazis publicly piled high some of the finest literature of the Germans and sent these works of art up in smoke. Why? Because these books dealt with freedom of the mind and spirit, and hence had no place in the Hitlerian scheme of things.

Now, through this "stacking of the books," graduates have an opportunity to show the results of their education, to display from one end of the country to the other that they have learned lessons of civilization and tolerance. It is a fine privilege for these men and women going out into the world to donate a book for the armed services, a book inscribed with their name, a volume that meant something to them in their journey from youth to manhood. By all means, let us stack the books on the platforms at commencement day.

Wartime Epidemics

During the first World War the then dreaded malady, "Spanish influenza"—better known today as "flu"—swept the world. It is doubtful if a single country on earth escaped, so widespread did the epidemic become. Some authorities have placed the death toll at the astounding total of 10,000,000, others even higher. The exact figure, of course, will never be known.

The armed forces of the United States paid a terrible price. Men gave up their lives in futile struggle before they could get into uniform, let alone face the enemy across the sea; and at home the warning sign—influenza—was to be seen on almost every other front door. In some cities more than one-fourth of the people were known to be incapacitated by the disease at the same time.

Many doctors were serving in the Army and Navy and those at home worked night and day until they, themselves, became ill or exhausted. Trained nurses were practically unobtainable for the same reason. Whole families fell ill within the hour with scarcely a soul to wait upon them. Thousands died from pure neglect; more thousands from too little aid too late, while even more were carried away in spite of all that medical science—and what it knew about Spanish influenze 25 years ago—could do to save them.

Last fall, another epidemic of influenza was predicted by some medical authorities. The disease was said to have been sweeping in from the southwestern states, where thousands of cases had been reported. But it failed to materialize; why, nobody can say. Perhaps the doctors have learned just how to treat it; perhaps the people are learning more and more how to guard themselves against disease; perhaps it was mere luck and nothing more. Whatever the cause of the failure the entire nation has reason to be grateful.

But it is not to be assumed there will be no further ravages from sickness, even before next winter. It therefore behooves every individual, every family, to guard, to the greatest extent possible, against diseases of all kinds. During these times of stress, when every ounce of energy is needed—with doctors and nurses away by the thousands, and more thousands leaving and likely to be called, every precaution should be taken to protect the nation's health.

Neighborliness

Citizens of a little town in Minnesota have given the rest of the nation a fine example of neighborliness on the farm through co-operative effort that bids fair to spread to other communities throughout the country. Due to the enterprise, ingenuity and humanitarianism of one man, farmers and their families who have been burned out of house or barn no longer need to sleep in the fields.

The idea is simplicity itself. When a fire strikes a farm family, and they have no place to go, why not house them in a portable home, all ready to be moved, set up and occupied? A businessman of the Minnesota town went to work on this idea, interested other persons, and before long six portable houses were ready against the day of emergency. Of course, that day came soon enough. But the folks were ready. Suffering was eliminated.

This is the sort of human stuff which makes America and its people truly great. The desire to help the less fortunate, the energy to carry through co-operatively a plan of action, and the over-all spirit of helping are the warp and woof of this type of doing. It's good to know that it goes on in the country, in spite of everyone's preoccupation with his own affairs and the larger task of victory in the war.

Georgia Editors Say:

RAPID CHANGES.

(From The Bartow Herald)

If someone had told us two years ago that the time would come when it would be necessary to regulate bicycle traffic in Cartersville, the idea would have seemed fantastic. Yet, that has come to pass, and that is just a beginning of the many regulations which will be placed on the public.

We are in war, and the seriousness of this war is placing new restrictions on us each day. During the past few weeks many items which we have always considered necessities have been placed on the list of war demands. Other items will follow rapidly.

Automobiles, tires, typewriters, sugar and bicycles are on the ration list. And now comes the announcement that gasoline will be placed on the list May 15. There are hundreds of other articles, ranging from silk stockings to fly swatters that go on the shelf for the duration. The WPB says most of the products of which production is banned or curtailed, will not be rationed. When the supply runs out, we shall have to do without or depend on our own ingenuity to find substitutes.

WASHINGTON PARADE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

SHIPBUILDING BOTTLENECK WASHINGTON, May 11.—Because of the enormous distances involved in the present world conflict and the vast quantities of materials we are supplying our allies, shipbuilding has become the bottleneck of the American war effort.

It is all due to the fact that before the outbreak of the war we had allowed our shipbuilding industry to fall to near nothing. For a period of some 15 years after the last World War there were practically no mercantile vessels built in this country. We permitted the great industry we had started back in the first war period to fade and vanish.

Only when the Germans began taking a heavy toll of British and neutral shipping in 1940 did we begin again in earnest. Now we have shipyards going full blast in every section of the country. We are even assembling them on the coast from sections made at far interior points like Denver, Col. Practically every coastal area on the Atlantic and the Pacific now has its naval construction center.

Nevertheless, the huge construction program we have inaugurated has been insufficient to provide the bottoms necessary for the shipment of the great masses of men and materials we are turning out for war uses. Production of planes and guns and tanks has so far exceeded shipping to date that there is serious discussion within the high command of proposals for revamping the program to give lesser emphasis to tank construction for the reason that ships are not being launched fast enough to take care of this heavy tonnage. At the present pace we will have the cornfields of the middle west filled with tanks which we have not been able to move to the war fronts.

It is all because the business of building a ship is a much slower and more tedious process than assembling a plane or a tank.

DOING SWELL JOB After a rather slow beginning, however, the U. S. Maritime Commission is now doing a remarkable job. The matter has not been publicized yet, but the commission has recently increased its production to a point where we are now turning out two 10,500-ton cargo vessels every day—seven days in the week. By the end of 1943 this production will have been stepped up to five such vessels a day.

With the new shipyards we have built the United States has already reached the point where we are producing more tonnage than all the rest of the world combined. That is one of the most remarkable achievements of our whole war effort, considering the fact that we had allowed our shipbuilding industry to fade so far out of the picture back in the years of intervening peace.

During the next two years our program calls for completing a total of 3,000 of these vastly important cargo vessels. Of this number 2,700 will be of the 10,500-ton type, which have been given the name of "Liberty Ships." Thus within the short space of 24 months we propose to build some 30 million tons of new shipping, an amount far in excess of the total mercantile tonnage of Great Britain before the war.

WILL NEED IT ALL The part this tonnage will play in a war of the far-flung proportions of this one, ranging from the Arctic regions of the north Atlantic to the south Pacific on the opposite side of the earth, and to the Indian Ocean, is self-evident. In fighting an offensive war such as we will need every bit of this tonnage. Our men and materials must be moved thousands of miles by sea.

It is encouraging therefore that the maritime commission is overcoming some of its earlier difficulties and is now on the upsurge of production. The American people will shortly be given news emphasizing the commission's accomplishments. Plans will be announced for a great launching spectacle on May 22, which is national "Maritime Day." On that date it is proposed to synchronize a number of launchings which otherwise might have been spread over a longer period and cause to go down the shipways of the country a total of 40 to 60 cargo vessels—all on the same day.

It will be one of the greatest launchings ever witnessed in this or any other country.

THE NAVY, TOO All of this is over and above our purely naval construction. Thanks to the foresight and the early start gained under the Roosevelt administration, we are now well advanced in a program calling for the greatest battleship building in the history of the world. When our new fleet is ready it will be able to stand its own against the combined fleets of the world.

SILHOUETTES

Ration Your Own Driving.

This week we register for gasoline rationing. Owners of automobiles must visit the schools, taking with them their auto license receipts, there to receive the cards which will permit them to buy a specified amount of gasoline per week, and no more. Rather, the member of the how many gallons, all told, can be bought in the 47-day period beginning May 15—which is next Friday.

The basic ration will be 21 gallons, which averages three gallons per week. Supplementary ration cards will allow for larger amounts if the car owner shows it is essential for his work, or something like that.

Too many auto owners, however, seem to be approaching this coming curtailment in auto fuel in the wrong spirit, judging by the remarks I've heard among acquaintainces, on the street cars, etc. Too many are desperately marshaling arguments to qualify them for a larger allowance, arguments with which to try and persuade the ration officials to give them a little more than the basic three gallons a week.

Whereas the proper spirit, for a nation at war as we are at war, should be a careful study, by every car owner, to find out if he can't, somehow, manage on that three-gallon allowance or, if this is absolutely impossible, on just how little he can get by with.

Too many folks seem to think it is essential for them to drive to and from work in their own cars, when they could, without too much inconvenience, find a street car or bus which would take them the greater part of the distance.

They should, if the distance from home to trolley line is too far to walk, make some arrangement for parking the car near the street car or bus line. Then drive the car from home to parking place, take street car to town and pick up the auto on the way home in the evening.

If everyone would do that, three gallons per week per car would be enough for the vast majority.

One thing I notice, too. A large majority of the businessmen who can be seen driving along to the job in their cars, are of the type who don't have to be at the office until after the worst rush hours on public transportation conveyances are over. They go at a time when there is, at least, plenty of standing room on the cars.

No, what we've got to figure, is using the car only for such essentials as a trip to the market and back, two or three times a week, to get groceries, meats, etc. And we've got to cut out the pleasure riding entirely.

If we'll all co-operate by using as little gasoline as we can—even less than the ration allowance, if possible—we'll pull through this period of shortage and hasten the day when we can go on a Sunday jaunt of 200 or 300 miles for no other reason than it pleases us.

There Are Reasons.

I've heard too much grumbling, too, about the rationing being applied to one part of the country only. Well, there's a reason for it.

These eastern states used to receive 95 per cent of their gasoline supplies via the ocean tankers that came up the coast. These tankers have almost all gone. Some have been sunk by submarines and others are needed to carry gasoline for the use of our Navy and Army and our airplanes all over the world.

During the emergency they can bring in about one-sixth of the normal needs of these states by railroad tank cars, moving it from areas where it is plentiful.

There are pipe lines which can supply another portion, say about one-fourth of normal needs.

Then, consider, too, the abnormal needs caused by the Army and Navy demands in this territory. Training camps must have gasoline for their planes and jeeps and peeps and heavy trucks. The Navy must have oil to refuel the ships in the various ports along the Atlantic seaboard. Fuel oil must be supplied to the great war industries in the area.

No wonder we are short.

I believe the shortage will be only temporary. New pipe lines will go into service. There would have been greater pipe line facilities if the Georgia legislature had not delayed the building by a lot of loggy-inspired objection to granting needed rights of way through this state.

But, it may not be a condition without compensating blessings if we do have to struggle on mighty little gasoline for a couple of months. For it will bring home the basic facts of wartime conditions to a lot of folk who haven't fully realized what war means, today, as yet.

Me? I can make three gallons a week do. But there'll be few, if any, trips longer than a couple of miles or so, even within the city.

Twenty-Five Years Ago Today.

From the news columns of Saturday, May 12, 1917:

"Washington, May 11—(Special) Prohibition for the duration of the war, so far as the national government can bring it about, was discussed today at a meeting of 25 or 30 members of congress who are advocates of this step."

And Fifty Years Ago.

From the news columns of Thursday, May 12, 1892:

Mr. C. Miles Collier, of New York, is in Atlanta in the interest of the New York Southern Society."

Siren.

You came into my life, serene, apart;
I thought that Heaven meant you for a star
To brighten earthly realms—until you tripped
Upon a kiss and fell into my heart
And falling, rested there. You never knew
I'd slyly dropped the kiss into your path
To test you, dear! Like Eve, I had to know
If you were saint or only mortal, too!

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Expected Reactions NEW YORK, May 11.—When, on a recent date, I discussed the Chicago Defender and the Pittsburgh Courier, Negro weekly publications of wide circulation among the colored people, I naturally expected some unreasonable reaction along with some calm and intelligent discussion of the points of criticism.

The point of my essay, proved by citations from these two papers, was that they expressed a low cultural level which was not a compliment to the aspiring millions of colored Americans for whom and to whom they undertake to speak and that they insulted the intelligence and character of their Negro readers by publishing advertisements of various luck charms, good luck incense and books on "unusual love requirements and ancient sexual practices." I offered the opinion, also, that a Negro editor is lacking in sincerity and is imposing on his readers when he bids them be proud of their race but sells space to an advertiser offering a skin cream under the illusory and ignoble promise that it will turn them more or less white.

One colored man wrote that he had long wished that someone would "take a crack at the yellow journalism of Negro newspapers," adding, however, that he shuddered to think what their headlines would be, concerning me, next week.

"Many liberal Negroes are painfully aware of the harm caused by the confusing and misleading statements of these publications but there is little that can be done about it under the present Negro leadership," he said. "They'll twist your column around and say you advocated abolition of Negro newspapers.

Over-Fair Are We Nobody has said exactly that but one communication from an organization called the "March on Washington" movement, said my analysis "of the just grievances" of Negroes was "vicious" when the fact is that I did not analyze such grievances at all. This one also said I had linked Negroes in the same category as the Fascist word and Communist groups although there was not a word in the whole discussion which even hinted at such a connection. This was a plain, deliberate lie, but our editor printed it nevertheless, so overfair are we.

So my colored correspondent who said the column would be twisted clearly called the turn although I didn't need him to tell me. I got used to this sort of thing in writing of criminals and dictators in the union racket, every factual, provable word of which has been fairly ignored by the culprits who have constantly howled "labor baiter" to divert attention from their guilt.

But I have been shocked to receive a press release from Howard University in Washington, which is supposed to be a center of Negro intelligence, upholding the Defender and the Courier in the practices cited on the pathetic ground that they are "heroic defenders" of the colored people.

They Can Do Better "He," meaning me, says this press release from the university, "gave no basic reasons why Negro newspapers are 'inferior' to white publications," and says these reasons can be traced to the segregated place of the Negro. But it is my point that these papers tend to secure that segregation by exploiting a Negro world far apart from the whole community of the United States and that the Negro press, in its pride of race, should be careful always of its racial mission to express the highest qualities of the colored people, not the lowest, in its own particular field, which is journalism. It would be a pathetic admission by Howard University that these two papers do represent the best ability of colored men in journalism because, if we are arguing from the basis of my professional opinion, they are very inferior to the standard white journalism. I hope Howard does not say that the standard represented by the Defender and the Courier is the best the colored people can produce and I know it isn't, myself. This standard is just trash and is imitative, and in a crude way, of all that is discreditable or least admirable in the white press.

The university even says the Negro editor must stoop to "trite and detestable matter" by way of appealing to the Negro masses so as to acquire power and influence among those masses "who need his teachings most," which strikes me as an argument for deliberate degradation of the leadership by clever men who know better so that the clever men may use the masses according to their own versatile ethics and personal ambitions.

The university further explains that these papers are "big business" and then say that this big business must resort to "sordid exploitation" of the credulity of its mass clientele so that it may live to befriend them. At this point I have to ask myself whether Howard University is for the colored man or against him, respects his intelligence or regards him as a very low-grade person. The argument doesn't make the university's position quite clear to me.

What Next?

Why meet trouble more than half way
The Evil thereof is sufficient unto the day.
Why disturb the undertow that might subside
If we do not go out to meet the incoming tide.
Just wait awhile, life has a way
Of adjusting most things if we watch and pray.
Doing our best as we understand
And leave it to God. He's in command.

—MABLE N. ALMAND.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH McGILL.

HENRY VI, ACT III In Mr. Henry L. Mencken's new dictionary of quotations I came across: from Henry VI—

"I can smile, and murder while I smile,
And cry 'content' to that which grieves my heart;
And wet my cheeks with artificial tears,
And frame my face to all occasions."

It was just after reading this that I came across Senator Wheeler's angry speech demanding the government do something about the rubber shortage. Senator Wheeler is angry because we don't buy up great stocks of wheat and corn and use them in making synthetic rubber.

Secretary Wickard, at whom there is some sniping by politicians who always use the secretary of agriculture as a whipping boy in times of elections, had suggested the possibility. The experiments have just been begun.

Senator Wheeler, in a perfectly magnificent burst of fervor and patriotism, severely chided the secretary for not being farther along with the work.

He declared the department was not on its toes.

He said it had been "asleep at the switch."

He suggested that had the department been on its toes it would have been producing tons of synthetic rubber and boosting farm prices. (The senator is from a wheat-growing state.)

The senator was blown up again with his own sense of self importance. The puncture inflicted by the bombing of Pearl Harbor has been repaired. For about two months there was a loud hiss of air in Washington as Wheeler subsided. Now his own engine for the generation of hot air is at work again.

AMAZING GALL All gall is divided into at least four parts, not three. But not, I am sure, equal parts. Bennett Clark who got up after Pearl Harbor and demanded to know why the Navy wasn't on the job, is the same senator who relentlessly fought the fortification of Guam and the Pacific islands. He and his crowd, including Wheeler, have the blood of American boys on their votes.

He has a share of gall. A goodly share.

Wheeler is the bitter foe of this administration who was making unfair and unreasonable and deliberately false statements about the administration at the very moment the Japanese struck.

He actually was preparing to deliver a speech when told that Japan had bombed Hawaii. He had already spoken, saying there would be no attack on this country. He had been fighting the preparation for war. He was against all the proposals of the President which, had they been followed, would have prevented many of the disasters which have come upon us. He was one of those chiefly responsible for the slowness of war production. The record is clear.

Yet now, with effrontery enough to gag a buzzard, he stands up in the senate and wants to know why the Department of Agriculture isn't far ahead on rubber production. He wants to know why it wasn't on its toes.

Only an isolationist such as Bennett Clark, Wheeler, Ham Fish or Nye, could produce that much effrontery.

The insolence and shamelessness of these men is beyond belief.

All gall is divided. And three parts, as Caesar said, are not enough.

IF MR. WICKARD— You have but to imagine a picture to know how much gall and affrontery Wheeler really possesses.

Let us imagine it was 1939, or even 1941, with war rushing toward us and the isolationists, not hontest at all but just angry with Roosevelt, telling the people there would be no war and no attack on this country.

Suppose Secretary Wickard had appeared before the senate, or sent in a bill to it, and asked for appropriations to buy wheat and corn with which to experiment in the making of synthetic rubber.

If Senator Wheeler possesses an ounce of honesty, he must admit he would have been the first to his feet, or at least tied with Nye and Clark, to howl down the proposal as a war-mongering, crack-pot, boon-doggling New Deal bill. I can hear the senator now, windy and loud.

He would have had plenty of company, too, from his own cackling crowd.

Yet today the man is so intellectually dishonest; so shamelessly arrogant, that he can denounce the secretary for not being far out in front in rubber production by a method which has just been touched experimentally.

You just can't believe it is possible there are any Americans who will pay the slightest attention to Wheeler, Nye, Ham Fish, B. Clark.

The insolent assurance of those false prophets, who have helped bring about our disasters and now upbraid our department heads for delay, is a new low in hypocricy.

Take a look at them, ladies and gentlemen—the bawling, heroic brassy ones who tied our hands and now would take us to task for not using them.

A Fable Concerning a Mill Owner Who Learned To Be a Worker

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

When young Bill Jones inherited the mill, he went to the city wise man and said: "I'd like to get along well with my workers, and I've got to learn what they think and feel. Can you tell me?"

"I could," said the wise man, "but it would do no good. Your workers have a mental attitude caused by an elemental need of man's spirit, but you'll never learn what it is until you become one of them."

So Bill bought a worker's old clothes and went to a city where he has unknown and there got a job. For a year he lived in a cheap boarding house and associated with workers. Then he went home.

"You were wrong," he said to the wise man, "or else I failed. I don't understand them any better than I did before."

"That's because you didn't become one of them," said the wise man. "You took a thousand-dollar bill in each shoe for use in emergency. Workers don't have that backlog."

So Bill went away again, this time without a dime. It took courage, but he was determined to see the thing through. Again he worked for a year, and again returned home.

"No dice," he said to the wise man. "If workers feel any spiritual need or whatever you called it, I failed to see it or share it. I still feel as I did."

"Of course you do," said the wise man. "You learned nothing because you didn't put yourself in the worker's place. You played the part of a poor man, but in your heart you knew you were the owner of a great mill."

"I guess that's right," said Bill, "but how in the world can I learn? How can I really put myself in the worker's place?"

"The job has been done for you, Son," said the wise man. "While you were gone, the lawyers found a later will. Your uncle didn't leave the mill to you, but to your cousin, Kate. You needn't play at being a worker any more. You've got to be one—or quit eating."

Bill's face went white, but in a moment he stood up and squared his shoulders.

"I've earned my salt for two years," said he, "and I can keep on doing it. I won't whine, but it's pretty tough not to feel secure."

"That," said the wise man, "is what you have been trying to learn."

OFF THE RECORD—By Ed Reed

"Am I supposed to let it run until it gets cold, Mary?"

Dudley Glass

One day last week my elbow neighbor, Jack Troy, indulged in a panegyric, if that's the word, on Mother's Day and, for some reason which he didn't make quite clear—to me, at least—he dragged in the name of Charles Edison.

I couldn't recall any outstanding Charles Edison, so I inquired of Jack.

"Why, the famous inventor of the incandescent light and other things," explained Mr. Troy. "I thought any seventh grade boy or girl would know that."

"The seventh grade boy of my time in the seventh grade wouldn't know anything now," I retorted. "They've changed all the names on the maps. When I went to school Russia was blue in the geography and now it's red. And they're spelling Tokio with a "y" in the middle. But in spite of that I was brought up with the impression that Mr. Edison's front name was Thomas and his middle name was Alva. This Charles stuff is new to me."

Mr. Troy's noble head bowed low over his desk.

"This is the day I drink the bitter tea of General Wang, or Yang, or whatever his name was," he mourned. "First thing when I come to work my attention was called to the fact that the only name left out of the Horse Show story was that of John K. Ottley Sr. And now you reproach me about Edison's front name. I am almost glad Mr. Edison passed on some years ago and has no close kin inside our circulation."

I endeavored to console Mr. Troy by recalling an incident of some years ago when I labored for the old Georgian. After a visit to Spring Place, up near Chatsworth, I wrote a paragraph about a famous old brick house where John Howard Payne was supposed to have written "The Star-Spangled Banner."

That was a brainstorm or temporary aberration or whatever you like to call it. Jack Troy knew perfectly well that Edison was named Thomas. I knew perfectly well that Payne didn't write "The Star-Spangled Banner." What I meant to type was "Home Sweet Home."

That fantastic error went through all editions and if any reader ever caught it he didn't write a protest. It worried me quite a lot. I wondered if anybody ever read my junk.

Too Smart Dog

Friend contributes a story about an ingenious but somewhat scoundrelly college student who was always spending more than his allowance. He had exhausted all the stock devices for chiseling more money out of the old man—and then a new idea smacked him in the face.

The old man owned a dog which was the pride of his heart. The son wrote him that he had found a man in the college town who could teach a dog to talk—for $300. He suggested that the dog be sent at once, so he could acquire an education.

So the old man shipped the pup and the $300 and finally commencement came round and the boy got his diploma and went home.

Mr. Troy's Bad Day; Cross-Section of Newspaper Life

"Where's the dog?" asked Dad. "I want to hear him talk."

"Now, that's a confidential story," explained the son. "He was talking fine. Even long words.

"Well, we were coming home on the train and he opened up. First things he said was: 'Your dad is a tight old coot, isn't he?' And then he said: 'I wonder if your old man is still running around with that pretty new school teacher.' I was afraid he'd talk too much when we got home, so I threw him off the train into a river."

"Son," remarked the old man, "I wish you had killed him first. He might swim out of there and come home."

From Kentucky

Kentucky editor—perhaps after concluding his comments on the type of alleged mint julep served in Louisville on Derby Day, now voices a bitter but timely complaint about the average strawberry shortcake he encounters.

The genuine, bona fide strawberry shortcake, according to the Kentucky editor, "should be a sandwich, as it were, of ripe berries hiding their blushing beauty between layers of crisp pie crust." He adds: "The restaurateurs who dish up some dark and sad looking berries on a square of wet and sad tasting cake should meet the fate of folk who sweeten cornbread. They should be banished 'north of the river' and be forced to eat cold bread and never see a hot biscuit."

Tourist paused in front of a handsome but gone-to-seed old Southern home and inquired of a passing Negro woman:

"Can you tell me who lives here?"

"I thought everybody knowed Kunnel Jackson lives there," she replied.

"He is a colonel in what army?"

Presbytery Union Proposal Stalled

Committee on co-operation and union of the Presbyterian church in the United States will make no recommendation for union with the Presbyterian church, U. S. A., in its report to the general assembly at Knoxville, Tenn., May 28 to June 3.

Although negotiations have been under way for some time between the two church groups, the Rev. Thomas W. Currie, chairman, said here yesterday the co-operation and union committee has had no meeting during the church year on the action.

However, understanding on many matters has been reached in previous negotiations, he reported.

Jap Drive on Russia Predicted by Atlantan

A. C. Munyan, assistant professor of geology at Emory University, predicted yesterday Japan probably will move next against Russia.

The move will be made, he said in a speech delivered before the Rotary Club, in order to advance on the Aleutian islands and Hawaii.

UMW Officials Will Discuss Row With CIO

Group To Attempt To Settle Conflict on Finances.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers' Union, today summoned the union's policy committee and executive board to resolve a conflict with the CIO and to act on problems created by the war. Meetings will begin in Washington May 25.

Lewis, who fathered the CIO, wants repayment of $1,665,000 he advanced to it from the miners' treasury. The CIO, now headed by Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers, denies the sum constitutes a debt to be repaid in cash. The CIO is dunning the mine workers for per capita tax payments which amount to about $30,000 a month and are about three months in arrears.

An indorsement of Lewis' stand by the UMW executive board might lead to an open break between the miners and the CIO.

War problems include those of selective service, tire rationing, vacations and bond purchasing. The mine union leaders may adopt a general statement of policy on the prosecution of the war.

A UMW spokesman said some operators have suggested that miners forego their week's vacation this year in sections where there is a pressing demand for a certain type of high-grade bituminous coal. These sections include Pennsylvania and parts of Kentucky and West Virginia. It is understood the operators would still make the $20 token vacation payment to the miners as provided in the wage agreement.

Nunnally Refund On Taxes Upheld

The United States supreme court upheld yesterday a refund of 1920 federal income taxes granted by the court of claims to the Nunnally Investment Company of Atlanta over the government's contention a previous judgment barred the litigation.

Justice Frankfurter delivered the 5-to-3 decision. Justices Black, Douglas and Byrnes dissented, and Justice Jackson did not participate.

The Justice Department said the company had been paid $295,265 in 1929 in full settlement of the claim. It said the new suit involved $18,280, plus interest.

Prompt action is necessary in replying to the attractive offers in the Want Ad pages of The Constitution.

U. S. Subs Sink Jap Destroyer, 2 Cargo Ships

Two Nipponese Undersea Boats Are Dealt Fatal Blows.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—Destruction of a Japanese destroyer and two cargo vessels by United States submarines operating in the western Pacific was announced today by the Navy Department.

A terse communique gave no details of these latest blows at the enemy's tenuous supply lines, except to emphasize that they were not "related to the recent engagement in the Coral sea."

One of the cargo vessels was described as a naval craft, presumably a fleet auxiliary, and the other simply as a medium-sized cargo ship. The report on these sinkings raised to 42 the number of Japanese ships of all types sunk by American undersea craft. In addition, 12 have been announced as probably sunk and 11 as damaged.

Previously General MacArthur's headquarters in Australia had announced destruction of two enemy submarines in another action.

Possibly indicating that the United States had been able to increase its submarine activities in the Pacific was the fact that today's announcement was the second within five days to tell of successes by the undersea craft.

On last Thursday, the Navy reported that its submersibles had sent to the bottom three Japanese vessels — a medium-sized cargo ship, a medium-sized tanker and a small cargo ship.

In neither case did the Navy identify the area of operations except by the general term "Far East."

Earlier communiques, however, have told of American submarines operating in the waters about the Japanese islands, attacking ships as they left home ports with supplies and troops for distant battlefields.

Long Life Seen For Hal Steed's 'Georgia' Book

Atlantan's Work Wins Rating as Excellent, Interesting.

By DUDLEY GLASS.

Hal Steed has writen a book—and an excellent and interesting book. It is entitled "Georgia, Unfinished State." It is a guidebook to Georgia but it is far more than that. I sat up with it late the other night, not only because I'm fond of Georgia but because Hal presented so many new pictures. I believe it will be interesting to a reader in Iowa or Massachusetts.

And, speaking of pictures, there are many fine photographs—most of them shot by Kenneth Rogers, of The Constitution photographic staff. A highway near Savannah, the old slave market at Louisville, Stone mountain, of course, and cotton-selling time in Milledgeville, to mention a few.

Publisher Enthusiastic.

Albert A. Knopf, the publisher, visited Atlanta a few months ago, told me about Hal Steed's book. He was enthusiastic about it. Naturally. Otherwise he wouldn't have published it.

Steed was honor guest yesterday at a luncheon given by Rich's, with Miss Helen Parker, head of the book department, as hostess. Other guests were literary and newspaper folk. Just as intimate little affair, devoid of oratory.

Hal Steed is a former newspaperman. He was a young reporter when I first knew him. He afterward specialized on real estate news, on the old Georgian, the Journal and The Constitution. Several years ago he did three entertaining articles for the Saturday Evening Post, based on the rise and fall of real estate—and realtor—in Atlanta.

Newspaper Wife.

Hal married a newspaperwoman—Margaret Underwood, sister of Judge E. Marvin Underwood, of the United States district court. For several years he hasn't been an active newspaper worker, devoting himself to magazine articles and collecting material for his book about Georgia.

"Georgia, Unfinished State," takes the form of a fictional narrative by a chap who traveled over the state. It looks like a tour of a few weeks, but actually I know, it represents several years of visits here and there.

He talks about Talmadge and the Okefenokee swamp, of the ancient Butler's island, where Fanny Kemble wrote her diary; of Crawford Long's discovery of ether as an anesthetic; of Bobby Jones, emperor of golf, of moonshiners and gold miners and of candlewick spreads and that wholesale murder of poor tenant Negro farmers held in virtual peonage at the Smithsonia plantation, near Covington. Of the old days of the convict lease system; of Martha Berry and her school. Of grand operas' heyday in Atlanta. There is also a chapter on Georgia newspapers, in which The Atlanta Constitution occupies a prominent part.

Good and Bad.

It is by no means a Chamber of Commerce booklet. He pictures the bad along with the good. But he reveals a love for his state—the love even an adopted son like me can feel after knowing the mountains and the rolling plains and the beaches.

Test of a book is how many copies it will sell? Or is it? I don't think it is. Such a book as Hal Steed's couldn't be expected to hit the best seller class. But I think it will be bought and read along, long time after today's best seller is being retired from the lending libraries because it occupies too much shelf room.

Tire and Wheel Stolen From Car of Minister

Ministers may have a priority on obtaining tires from rationing boards, but they get no exemption as far as tire thieves are concerned.

A tire and wheel valued at $25 was taken from the automobile of the Rev. Sidney A. Gates, pastor of the Pryor Street Presbyterian church, while he worked in his study there late yesterday afternoon, he told police last night.

Asphalt Sold At High Rates, Witness Says

State Paid Double What It Was Worth, He Testifies.

A witness for the prosecution who was for 17 years an engineer in the Georgia Highway Department, testified yesterday in Fulton superior court, that E. Jack Smith, an associate of Dr. Hiram W. Evans, sold sand asphalt to the state at double what it was worth and offered to sell the same material to a federal-aid project for less.

The witness, E. A. Logan, said he investigated the cost of road-building material for a Treutlin county project for which Smith was the successful bidder at the behest of Chairman W. L. Miller, and Jim Gillis, of the Highway Board. According to his figures, sand asphalt cost a little more than $2.04 per ton, while Smith's bid was for $4.11. He said Smith had offered to sell sand asphalt to a federal-aid project in the same county at $3 per ton.

Later, he said, the late Sam Finley, Atlanta asphalt dealer, had bid $3.68 per ton for both furnishing and laying the asphalt on a section of the Treutlin county road continuing into Laurens county.

H. A. Allen, counsel for Dr. Evans, on trial for alleged conspiracy to defraud the state, drew an admission from the witness that other asphalt dealers bid $4.50 to $5.50 per ton on the Treutlin project.

The second witness called, W. L. Cobb, of the Cobb Construction Company, testified he could have bid 50 cents less per ton on the 16,000 tons ordered for the project, if it had been ordered in one quantity instead of in increments of 2,500 tons. The state is attempting to show division of a large order into small ones was a part of the alleged conspiracy.

Wholesale Price Ceiling in Effect

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP)—The price ceiling on wholesalers and manufacturers, first part of the largest single task ever undertaken by the government in regulation of business, became effective today.

Thus, under the ruling of the Office of Price Administration, the nation's wholesalers no longer may charge retailers prices higher than the top figures they charged in March.

Some observers believed the ceiling, put into operation last midnight, would result in a mild wave of buying by retailers who had been waiting to buy at prices lower than some prevailing in April and up to this date in May.

Jimmy Walker's Ex-Wife Wed to Florida Engineer

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 11.—(AP)—Friends disclosed today the marriage here of Betty Compton Walker, divorced wife of former Mayor James J. Walker, of New York, to Theodore Knappen, consulting engineer, of Miami Shores, Florida.

The ceremony was performed Saturday by the Rev. August F. Bender of the Summit Avenue Dutch Reformed church.

At Mrs. Knappen's New York apartment a friend said the couple left on a 10-day motor trip to an undisclosed destination.

It was the fourth marriage for the one-time British showgirl. Besides Walker, her other husbands were Stanley Reed Riches and Edward Duryea Dowling.

Road Paving Curtailment Is Announced

Only Federal Requirements To be Filled, Commissioners Decide

Fulton county commissioners, yesterday announced suspension of all roads except on those required by the government, due to federal restrictions on the use of asphalt.

It was said that about 50 miles of roads, including Roberts drive, and the High Point and House roads, would be affected. Roads leading to the bomber plant will have priorities and asphalt will be available for them. These include making Northside drive a four-lane highway from Arden to the city limits to conform with the capacity of the Marietta highway.

Commissioners said the county had no funds with which to purchase rights-of-way for this highway and said the federal government would have to supply them.

Springfield School Destroyed by Fire

BLAKELY, Ga., May 11.—(AP)—The Springfield school, 15 miles south of here, was destroyed yesterday by fire. B. R. Davis, school superintendent, estimated the loss at $8,000.

The wooden structure was rebuilt in 1935 after being destroyed by fire. It was the second Early county school building lost by fire within a year.

Good Morning

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

NATIONAL HOSPITAL DAY.

May 12 is National Hospital Day, and Georgians will join with the people of the entire nation in grateful acknowledgment of the ministry of the hospitals of our own state for their unceasing and ever-widening sphere of skillful and compassionate service. There will be special radio broadcasts, newspaper features, and special programs in many of the hospital centers of the land. Robert Guy, business manager of the Georgia Baptist hospital, is chairman for Georgia in this nation-wide day of appreciation of the work of hospitals, including doctors, nurses, and special staff workers.

A number of our Georgia hospitals observed Hospital Day last Sunday as a part of the celebration of Mother's Day. Next Sunday, May 17, will be Golden Cross Day for the Methodist hospitals of Georgia, under the chairmanship of Major R. J. Guinn, who for 20 years has served in this important work. Mrs. Malcolm Dewey is associate chairman of the Golden Cross work in Georgia.

We will do well to pause today and remind ourselves of the ministry of the hospitals in our state and throughout the nation. There are more than 6,000 hospitals in the United States, maintaining more than a million beds, and rendering service last year to 10,000,000 patients. More than three and a half billion dollars have been expended in buildings and equipment for these 6,000 hospitals. More than a million babies were born in these hospitals last year. These hospitals employ more than 360,000 persons.

The date, May 12, is the anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale. Her life has proved one of abiding inspirations to that fine company of people who have dedicated themselves to the alleviation of human suffering, and it is altogether fitting and appropriate that National Hospital Day should fall on Florence Nightingale's birthday.

I hope someone is ready to interrupt my discussion with the question, What can I do on National Hospital Day to further the fine work of these vitally important agencies? Well, by the time you ask that question, the answers will be popping into your mind. For one thing, the hospital, or hospitals, in your community will observe the day by an open house, probably in the afternoon and evening. The management will welcome you as a visitor, as will the staff of doctors and nurses. Most of us go to hospitals to visit sick friends. Why not combine your visit today to your sick friend with a visit to the management? Ask questions about how you may aid your hospital, or hospitals. Something practical and satisfying will come from such a visit. Make an offering to the charity work of the hospital of your choice. Ask if you may share your bounty of garden flowers with sick friends who do not have any flowers in their rooms. Find out the many worth-while things you can do for your hospital. That will bless you and others.

"SQUEEZE" CRASH ON PEACHTREE—The remarkable thing about this wreck that occurred in front of the Henry Grady hotel yesterday was that nobody was hurt seriously. The car, driven by Jerry Vass, was crushed to pieces when it was caught between the traffic standard and a northbound street car. Vass suffered minor bruises and his companion was unhurt, although rescuers had to cut away the top of the car to remove them after the accident.

One of War's Greatest Air Victories Won

63 Planes Accounted For in Terrific Sunday Battle.

VALETTA, Malta, May 11.—(INS)—Malta's reinforced RAF fighter squadrons and ground guns were declared officially tonight to have shot down or crippled at least 101 Axis raiders during the past three days, achieving one of the war's outstanding air victories.

The biggest bag was scored on Sunday when 63 German bombers and Italian and Nazi escort fighters were hit as the enemy timed some of his heaviest air blows at this battered island to coincide with the swearing in of a new governor for Malta.

At least 22 of these raiders are now known to have been shot down, another 20 were probably destroyed and still another 21 were certainly damaged in what this Mediterranean stronghold's defenders called "the biggest banner day Malta has ever had."

The figures were embodied in an RAF communique, which revised sharply upward a previous announcement that 41 enemy planes were destroyed or damaged Sunday.

Saturday's score was 30 Axis raiders knocked out or impaired, while still incomplete reports tonight showed an additional eight enemy planes hit during Monday, three of them wiped out and the other five damaged.

Malta's RAF defenders, just recently augmented by fighters flown in from Cairo, lost only three planes Sunday in resisting big-scale raids which were going on even as Lord Gort was being sworn in as Malta's new governor and commander-in-chief by a judge who had been wounded in the hand by a bomb explosion just before he administered the oath.

The German bombers and their Italian and Nazi fighter escorts were declared to have taken a greater beating over Malta Saturday and Sunday than any defeat suffered by Hitler's air force during the battle of Britain, considering the proportionate numbers of planes engaged.

The RAF reinforcements from Cairo were credited with the main share of the weekend victory in the fiercest aerial fighting Malta has witnessed during the 2,000 or more raids it has suffered.

Ida Jean Kain Wins Praise of Interviewer

Nutrition Expert Impressive, But Not Like Celebrity.

By BETTY MATHIS.

Ida Jean Kain is the person you never expected to meet.

She is a celebrity. Her name is known from coast to coast as an expert on nutrition and exercise, and her syndicated column which appears daily in The Atlanta Constitution and scores of American and foreign newspapers is a sort of "book of life" for countless women who astound their husbands by scattering grains of rice on the floor and then methodically picking each one up singly (it's good for the figure), because Ida Jean Kain said so.

Yet, Miss Kain, whose name is a household word with readers of The Constitution, both male and female, if you would believe her heavy fan mail, acts about the least like a celebrity of anyone in the public eye today.

Well Groomed.

She is best described by saying that she is a lady. From the tip of her well groomed head to the toes of her tiny feet she expresses good breeding and all the social graces. She knows how to wear clothes and how to meet people.

She arrived by plane late yesterday afternoon from New York and was met by her host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Seydell. She went directly to the Capital City Club for an informal dinner party where she met members of the press.

She wasn't tired, even though she had been pressed with writing her column in advance and with preparing the two speeches she is to make today under the auspices of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs, the organization which Mrs. Seydell heads.

Fresh and Vivacious.

As a matter of fact, she was far fresher and more vivacious than those newspaper people who met her at the club.

She was meeting strangers. Only three of the party had she known before; yet, before five minutes had elapsed everyone was calling her Ida Jean and she was remembering the first names of all members of the group.

Her rare knack of carrying on three or four conversations at once was illustrated around the dinner table as she partook of honeydew melon ("Isn't it wonderful to get this at this time of year?") and pompano, which she had never tasted before.

Seh has the streamlined figure for which all women yearn.

"I never diet," she confessed to the rather rotund gentleman who was seated next to her and who worried because he was afraid she would not allow him to eat more than one cracker.

She ate several crackers and buttered them generously. So did the gentleman who sat next to her.

Her praise of the food was high, and that, indeed, is high praise for Miss Kain holds degrees in nutrition from Battle Creek and Columbia University.

Her idea that nutritious and vitamin-rich food can be just as good as grandma's three-meats, four-starches, three-desserts meals has been proved, but there was a time when her ideas were not popular. People in those days believed that food might be either tasty or nutritious and balanced, but not both.

But Miss Kain showed them. Through her column she advocated low-calorie menus which were masterpieces in the culinary art. Her menus are always tasty and no one following her reducing program would hesitate to serve one of her meals to even the most discriminating and widely traveled guest.

Miss Kain is small, not more than five feet tall, and she probably weighs just a little bit more than 100 pounds.

Her well-tailored suit was of gray shepherd's check, with all-around pleated skirt and fitted jacket. Her accessories were black and her lapel was adorned with a clever enamel and brilliant pin which tried in vain to sparkle as much as her eyes as she told story after story of her experiences with the great and near great.

She told about interviewing Joan Bennett, whom she had overheard telling her maid, "Do I have to see that woman now?"

"When I saw her I said, 'I don't want to do this any more than you do. But I have a job to do, so let's get it over with'."

"Miss Bennett liked that and we were the best of friends and I got a grand story," she recalled.

Then there was the time when she was called upon to interview Marlene Deitrich.

"Marlene is perfectly beautiful, but she is rather distant with newspaper folk and she was so much taller than I that I sort of had to whittle her down to my size.

"I began by asking her to let me measure her legs and she agreed to that. Then I asked her what size dress she wore and she replied, 'Why, I haven't the faintest idea. I never have worn a ready-made dress.'

"I flatly told her I thought she was a snob, and, astonished, she said, 'Do you think so?' I told her yes, that most women buy dresses already made in the shops and many of them buy them for $6.98. They are the people who go to see your pictures and they would like to know what size dress you wear.

"After that I got another excellent story."

Miss Kain has traded the name by which the public knows her for that of Mrs. Fred Beech, whose husband is a Manhasset (L. I.) doctor.

She is a courageous little person. She has fought for everything she has achieved, including her vivacity and her streamlined figure. While still a schoolgirl she was struck by infantile paralysis. With exercise and sheer will power she overcame it completely. She worked to go to college and later worked that younger members of her family might also receive educations.

She is truly the feminine counterpart of the Horatio Alger stories. But to meet her, you would never know it. She's just as natural and friendly and easy-to-know as your next door neighbor. She's truly the celebrity you never would expect to meet.

She speaks at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the Women's Club to members of the 98 Federated Women's Clubs of Atlanta. She will be introduced by Clark Howell, editor and publisher of The Constitution. Afterwards she will be honored at a luncheon at the Women's Club banquet hall.

At 4 o'clock she will speak to a selected group of nutrition experts, Red Cross workers, home economics teachers and members of the AWVS.

Her subject is "Nutrition Is Power" and will point out the duties of those on the home front to preserve national health and morale through proper diet.

Georgia Fight On Ration Goes To White House

Governor, Arnall Protest Against State Zoning on Gasoline.

Georgia's fight to prevent the rationing of gasoline was taken to the White House by senators and representatives in congress yesterday when the Governor and Ellis Arnall, state attorney general, appealed for a modification of the rationing order as it affects Georgia or the creation of a blanket rationing order affecting all states alike.

Arnall addressed telegrams to President Roosevelt and to Senators George and Russell, pointing out that two pipe lines with a present capacity of 90,000,000 gallons a day traverse the state, and contending that the state consumes less than 30,000,000 gallons a day. The capacity of the two pipe lines is three times the consumption in Georgia, Arnall added.

Two Pipe Lines.

He reminded the President that his appeal for construction of pipe lines went unheeded, but that subsequently two pipe lines have been placed in operation and that another 30,000,000-gallon-a-day addition is even now projected.

"I along with the people of the state will greatly appreciate a careful consideration of Georgia's situation so that gasoline rationing may be eliminated," he said. "Georgians are tremendously patriotic, but in view of the pipe lines I believe that Georgia should be taken out of the zone.

"If our people are to have gasoline rationed to them although we have adequate facilities for transporting gasoline, I am taking the liberty of urging that the entire nation be placed in a restricted and rationed gasoline zone."

The Governor hit what he called an apparent discrimination between Georgia, a seaboard city, and other inland states, saying the gasoline rationing program will wreck the state's finances.

Governor's Telegram.

His telegram to senators and representatives said:

"The gasoline rationing in Georgia is not only cutting revenue of the state but is hindering business that is essential to the prosecution of the war. Georgians are willing to make any sacrifice for this war, but we feel that all states should be treated alike. We do not wish to be discriminated against and let's think of this question. Isn't it more necessary for our seaboard states to have quick and adequate means of transportation than in any other state of the Union? Transportation is largely by gasoline. I would certainly appreciate your efforts with the War Production Board for Georgia not to be discriminated against. Of course this applies to the other seaboard states. Please let me hear from you on this.

"Best regards,

entitled to more gasoline than either of the B cards allow may apply to their local war boards for supplemental cards, which, however, would limit them to the specific amount they show would be needed to carry out their work or to protect their life.

Regional officials pointed out that discretion had been left up to local boards in determining whether traveling salesmen and others who might apply for supplemental cards could use other means of transportation or could carry on their business by mail or telephone.

This discretion also may be exercised in determining the availability of bus or street car service to local residents.

Oscar Strauss, regional OPA director, estimated at least 40 per cent of the cars now taken to work in southeastern cities could be left at home. He also reported that surveys had shown the average number of workers riding in cars going to work in defense areas to be one and a half to a car.

He declared it was hoped this would be increased to possibly three to a car by having workers use their cars alternately and doubling up.

Commercial Users.

The regional administrator said local boards could take this possible method of cutting down the number of automobiles used into consideration in ruling on cases involving salesmen as well as persons traveling locally.

A 15 to 20 per cent increase in the number of persons wanting to use street car and bus facilities here as a result of gasoline rationing was predicted by officials of the Georgia Power Company.

They declared the company's facilities already were operating at peak capacities during rush hours and said staggering of working hours might be the only solution to the problem. Similar problems were expected to arise in other cities.

Regional OPA officials stressed operators of trucks and commercial vehicles easily identified as such need not register in the rationing program since they will need no cards to purchase gasoline.

Questions Pour In.

To the questions which started pouring into state and federal rationing offices yesterday, officials gave the following answers:

Q. How much gasoline will the ordinary motorist with no special claims be able to obtain.

A. Each of the seven squares on his card will call for three gallons.

Q. Can he use up all of his squares as quickly as he sees fit?

A. Yes. But he will not be able to obtain any additional cards and it is therefore suggested he spread it over the whole 47-day period.

Q. What if I do not have my card with me and want to purchase gasoline?

A. Dealers are not allowed to sell you any gasoline unless the ration card issued for the vehicle for which gasoline is being purchased is being presented. Keep the card in your car at all times.

Q. What if I need more gasoline than this card is good for?

A. If it is essential for your life or your pursuit of your gainful occupation to have more gasoline, you can make application to your local rationing board.

Lost Cards.

Q. What do I do if my ration card is lost, stolen or destroyed or mutilated?

A. You may apply at your local rationing board for a replacement.

Q. Do I have to use up all of the units on my ration card?

A. No, if you do not need the gasoline, do not buy it.

Q. Can I sell any of the gasoline I buy with this ration card to anybody else?

A. No. That is contrary to government regulations.

Q. If I sell my car, what do I do with my ration card?

A. Turn card in to local ration board.

Q. What if I change cars?

A. Apply for a new ration card at your local rationing board, turning in your old card at that time. You cannot buy gasoline for one car on a card issued for a different car.

Needed Information.

Forms which car owners will fill out today must carry the following information: Owner's name, residence and business address, the exact nature of his work, the make, body style, engine number and vehicle license number of his car and such miscellaneous information as the shortest mileage from his home to his regular place of work or commuting point, number of miles driven in each working day in carrying on his work, and whether or not he is making every possible effort to reduce mileage by using public transportation and "doubling-up" with neighbors.

Strauss last night issued the following statement to clarify registration problems for traveling salesmen and others whose businesses depend upon use of their cars:

"Registrars may issue for use of any passenger automobile only one gasoline ration card in accordance with the decision of the registrar after reading completed application form for Ration Card B-1, B-2, B-3 or additional gasoline Ration Card X. Any additional gasoline cards which may be issued must be issued by a local rationing board after the original card issued by the registrar is used up.

Traveling Salesmen.

"Business people such as traveling salesmen will want to know whether they are eligible for gasoline ration cards which will allow them sufficient gasoline to continue such traveling in connection with their business as they have heretofore customarily done. Such persons must fill out applications for gasoline Ration Cards B-OPA, Form-506 and answer all the questions thereon.

"Emergency plans for gasoline rationing provide in Section 8, subparagraph 4-B (4) "special instructions," a method whereby motor vehicles other than motorcycles or motorbikes operated for business purposes therein defined may secure gasoline sufficient for such necessary business or commercial driving."

Ration Cards Not Needed by Defense Aides

OPA Says Owners Using Cars in Business Will Get Gasoline.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—Civilian defense workers, when actually engaged in official tasks, will be permitted gasoline without ration cards.

The announcement was made today by Office of Price Administration Officials, who added that they were confident that dealers' supplies would be adequate for all card-holders when actual rationing starts Friday.

The Office of Price Administration emphasized also that every motorist who customarily drives to work will get enough gasoline to continue to do so.

Apparent misunderstanding on this score had caused "a heck of a lot" of inquiries from worried motorists who use their cars for business or in driving to and from their jobs, OPA officials said.

They sought to put these fears at rest by assurance that "B" ration cards—rather than the basic "A" card, which gives a driver three gallons a week from May 15 to July 1—would be issued to provide the needed motor fuel.

Governor Saves Fee for Careless Motorists

holding on to these registration forms—

"And—Whereas, it will work a hardship on the public to pay this additional 50-cent fee required by the department—

"Therefore, I, Eugene Talmadge, Governor of Georgia, do hereby order that the charge of 50 cents is hereby suspended until the next session of the general assembly, or until otherwise ordered."

Money Returned.

Commissioner of Revenue Jack Forrester bore the glad tidings for the fee-payer down to W. L. Joiner, who is in charge of the motor vehicle unit. So most of the 2,000 got their money back. Those that left before the executive order came through, can get theirs returned, too.

Down in Joiner's branch of the revenue department, business had been humming all day.

Not only were the clerks swamped by long lines of applicants for duplicate registrations, but the mail on the desks from other sections of Georgia was piled high. One careless person was Congressman Carl Vinson, of Milledgeville, eminent in his country's naval circles, a man with a keen memory.

"I'd say," said Joiner, "that about 20 per cent of the people don't know where they put those registration certificates we issued them a few months ago.

"Some of them take their tags into filling stations and have the attendants there put the tags on the car. The boy tears off the envelope around the tag and throws away the envelope and the registration certificate that is enclosed neatly in a little envelope on the front.

"Speed cops don't ask the driver for his registration certificate—they ask him for his driver's license. So, the driver's license is all that anyone feels he needs."

For the benefit of motorists throughout Georgia, Commissioner Forrester and Joiner announced the red application blanks that must be filled out for a duplicate certificate can be obtained from the sheriff's office in each county and from most of the filling stations.

The applicants are hereby advised that they can ignore the 50-cent fee notation in the upper right-hand corner of those red application blanks. Just fill 'em out and mail 'em in.

It's on the Governor.

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP)—The stock market resumed its forward move today after considerable early hesitancy attributed to light profit-selling on the two-weeks' advance.

Steels, motors, rubbers and assorted specialties came to the fore in the final hour and, while declines were plentiful at the close, fractional plus signs predominated. A handful of favorites was up 1 to 2 points on restricted volume.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks finished with a net gain of .2 of a point at 34.2. Dealings were on the slow side although expanding a bit at the last. Transfers totaled 290,650 shares against 313,209 lat Friday.

The war news continued as a bullish factor in speculative and investment quarters, bu some potential buyers inclined to hold back pending Washington developments anent taxes and further economic controls.

Bonds were fairly steady and commodities mixed.

In front of a generally slim curb were Aluminum of America, American Cyanamid, Brewster Aero, Lake Shore, N. J. Zinc, Pittsburgh Plate Glass, and Sherwin-Williams.

Timber Owners To Meet at Valdosta and Study Congress Action.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

VALDOSTA, Ga., May 11.—Forestry leaders of the southern states are being invited and urged to attend a meeting in Valdosta Tuesday, May 12, to plan for better protection of timber lands from burning by sabotage.

The meeting, called by the Forest Farmers' Association Co-operative, will be attended by state foresters, representatives of the United States Forest Service and by a large committee of land-owning members of the association, according to Wayne G. Miller, executive secretary of the organization.

Invitations have been sent out by W. M. Ottmeier, of Fargo, Ga., president of the association, to state foresters and other leaders in North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma. Invitations have also been sent to Earle H. Clapp, acting chief of the United States Forest Service at Washington, D. C., and to Joseph C. Kircher, regional forester, Atlanta. The meeting will convene at 10 o'clock and probably will continue in session all day, Secretary Miller said today.

The occasion for the conference is the recent action of the congress appropriating $5,000,000 for the emergency protection from fire of forests in the vicinity of military posts and bases. It is understood that most of the money has been allotted to the west coast, and that less than 10 per cent of the total amount has been earmarked for the southeast.

Officers of the Forest Farmers' Co-operative Association point out that the southeastern states comprise the largest forest area in the entire country; that there is a concentration of military bases here; that this has been designated by the War Department as an area of especial importance from a military viewpoint, and that the highways connecting the various posts and bases are essential to the effective use of such establishments, and that all such highways traverse vast forests.

'Bugs' Baer Says:

Two years ago, when things looked blacker than a mule's bedroom, I said the time to jump on a snake is when it's stretched out and not when it's coiled.

That was true of Benito and Adolf in Russia. And it will be true of the Japs. They will stick their neck out like the giraffe in the Ark.

The best example of all is the British and Germans chasing each other east and west in the Sahara. It's just like playing touch tag during an epidemic of measles.

Literary Biography Of South Is Compiled

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

VALDOSTA, Ga., May 11.—Gertrude Gilmer Odum, professor of English at the Georgia State Woman's College, and Dr. Herman E. Spivey, of the University of Florida, have compiled an annotated bibliography for 1941 of "Southern Literary Culture," which was published in the April issue of South Atlantic Bulletin that came off the press last week. The bibliography is restricted to biographical, critical and scholarly books and articles pertaining to southern literature, but a bibliography of creative works by southern authors may appear at a later date, it is stated.

The bibliography will be an annual publication of the committee on Americans of the South Atlantic Modern Language Association. Mrs. Odum has also worked with this committee on a project to secure descriptive and interpretive reports on important manuscripts and rare-book collections pertaining to southern literature, and two articles in this series have been published.

Negro Awarded Cross for Heroism

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt has awarded the Navy cross too Doris Miller, Negro mess attendant first class, for heroism displayed during the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

Secretary Knox had commended Miller April 1 and he had been advanced in rating recently as preliminary awards for his bravery.

The action which won Miller these several honors was that while at the side of the captain on an unidentified ship, Miller "despite enemy strafing and bombing and in the face of a serious fire, assisted in moving his captain, who had been mortally wounded, to a place of greater safety, and later manned and operated a machine gun until ordered to leave the bridge."

END DEMOLITION COUNSEL.

Sixty picked employes of the city construction department will get diplomas this week for having completed their courses in demolition work, Clarke Donaldson, city chief of construction, announced. The group is the first graduated in this area. In addition to taking the demolition work, they also completed the regular air raid warden's and all first-aid courses required in the civilian defense set-up.

BOUNCING BETTY
By Bud Hill
YOU WIN, GORGEOUS! BUT WHERE'D YOU DIG UP ALL THAT BOUNCE? YOU USED TO BE SUCH A RUN-DOWN, SCRAWNY LITTLE THING
"USED TO BE" IS RIGHT! BUT I LEARNED I HAD A "VITAMIN B COMPLEX DEFICIENCY"
SAY THAT AGAIN IN LITTLE WORDS
IT JUST MEANS I WASN'T GETTING ENOUGH OF THOSE AMAZING VITAMINS FOUND SO PLENTIFULLY IN YEAST. LACK OF THEM KEEPS MILLIONS BELOW PAR. SO— I STARTED DRINKING 2 CAKES OF FLEISCHMANN'S YEAST A DAY
YEP— DRINKING FLEISCHMANN'S IN NICE, COOL TOMATO JUICE. THERE, MISTER, IS A REAL VITAMIN COCKTAIL! CONTAINS EVERY VITAMIN KNOWN TO BE NEEDED FOR HUMAN NUTRITION. BUT YOU GOT TO STICK TO IT A WEEK OR LONGER. MANY SEE RESULTS IN ABOUT SEVEN DAYS
BY GOLLY— MAYBE FLEISCHMANN'S WOULD DO THINGS FOR ME, TOO!
THAT'S TALKING, MY LAD! GET A WEEK'S SUPPLY OF FLEISCHMANN'S; IT KEEPS PERFECTLY IN THE REFRIGERATOR! BUT DON'T JUST DROP A CAKE IN TOMATO JUICE. MASH THE CAKE IN A DRY GLASS, ADD A LITTLE JUICE, STIR TILL BLENDED. THEN, FILL UP THE GLASS AND DRINK! DEE-LICIOUS!
If you bake at home, remember that Fleischmann's has more vitamins than any other yeast.

Perpetual Trophy Is Donated For Club Estates Flower Show

By SALLY FORTH.

• • • COMPETITORS IN the flower show to be held on Friday afternoon by the Club Estates Garden Club will plan their entries with special care, because, this year, a new and very beautiful trophy, in the form of a silver bowl on a teakwood stand, awaits the creator of the most outstanding arrangement.

The trophy is donated by the flower show chairman, Mrs. Sam P. Belsinger, and will grace the home of its winner for one year, after which it will be passed on to the winner of next year's show. The silver bowl is engraved with the inscription, "Edna Belsinger Perpetual Trophy for Outstanding Arrangement in the Club Estates Garden Club."

The show will take place between the hours of 2 and 6 o'clock at Mrs. Belsinger's home on Vermont road, unless it rains—in which case it will be held at Brookhaven, the Capital City Country Club.

Preceding the event, judges, members of the flower show committee and past presidents will be honored at a luncheon at the club.

Judges will be Mrs. Willard McBurney, Mrs. Nelson Crisp, Mrs. Edith Harrison Henderson and Mrs. Eugene Cronheim. Mrs. Roy G. Clark is in charge of luncheon arrangements, and Mrs. George Griffin Jr. is president of the club.

The schedule for the show is announced by Mrs. G. Bonner Spearman as follows: First, colonial radiating; second, colonial period; third, Williamsburg mass; fourth, Chinese line with figurines; fifth, colonial period design, using yellow with blue accent; sixth, terrace tables. Specimen class has two groups: Group I, any perennial, one specimen; Group II, any perennial, three specimens.

• • • TOMORROW evening at 8:30 o'clock, the curtain will rise on the final performance of "The Ghost Train Comes to Town" at the Atlanta Woman's Club auditorium. You have doubtless heard reverberations from the exciting preview of this mystery play which was held last Friday morning at the Washington Seminary chapel.

Suffice it to say, the Seminary girls can hardly wait to see their classmates cast in the leading feminine roles. And making them all the more interested is the fact that all net proceeds will go to the Seminary Circle for Tallulah Falls school.

The play, which is presented by the Powers' Ferry School Players, like all good mystery plays boasts of plenty of romance, suspense and thrills. Lawrence Whalen, of the Powers' Ferry School, is the director.

• • • ATLANTANS received with interest yesterday the invitations issued by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Henry James Becker, of Gainesville, Va., to the marriage of their only daughter, Doris, to Allen West Shaw, ensign, U. S. N. Reserve. The marriage will be an event of social importance of May 30 and will take place at a fashionable afternoon ceremony at 4:30 o'clock at Becker Farms, the Virginia estate of the Beckers.

Mr. and Mrs. Becker and Doris were listed among the most popular members of society when they lived here on West Andrews Drive. Doris attended Washington Seminary, but when time came to make her formal bow she had moved to the national capital and was one of the most feted members of the debutante set there. She was formally presented to society at a supper-dance given at the North Wales Club in Warrenton, and since that time she has been a reigning belle in Washington, New York and the famous hunt country of Virginia. Her visits to Atlanta are few and far between, but she is always accorded a royal welcome during her visits with her close friend, Constance Knowles. Incidentally, Constance will leave on May 23 for Virginia to attend the final series of parties given for the bridal couple and to serve as maid of honor and only attendant when Doris becomes Mrs. Allen Shaw.

Atlantans also have part claim on the bridegroom, for he, too, formerly resided here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gardner, who, like the Beckers, were prominent figures in social circles, and who now reside in Washington. Mr. Gardner will be best man for his son at the nuptials, and of course "Jimmie" Becker will give his daughter in marriage. A reception will follow the ceremony at the Becker home, which is one of the show places of Gainesville.

Mr. Weisiger To Speak

Kendall Weisiger will address the O'Keefe Junior High school P.-T. A. Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The O'Keefe band will play, and the audience will be led in patriotic songs by the principal, Standley M. Hastings. This is the final night meeting of the year when both mothers and fathers may attend. Mrs. Kuniasanki is program chairman.

MRS. GUSTAVE F. JOHNSON.

Miss Rosalind Llorens Weds Mr. Johnson at Home Rites

Miss Rosalind Llorens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph V. Llorens, became the bride of Gustave F. Johnson recently at the home of Dr. and Mrs. F. J. Guiffrida on Briarcliff circle.

Mrs. Charles E. Turner was matron of honor for her sister and was gowned in a navy blue model worn with navy and yellow accessories. Her flowers were yellow rosebuds and swainsona.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and they entered together, meeting the groom and his best man, Charles E. Turner, at the altar. The bride, who is a petite blonde, wore an attractive afternoon model of pale pink. Her hat was an off-the-face model of matching pink and her accessories were white. Her flowers were white rosebuds and swainsona.

After the ceremony a reception was given. The dining room table was overlaid with a lace cloth and centered with a tiered wedding cake. The punch bowls were surrounded with sprays of pastel flowers. Miss Sara Guiffrida assisted in serving. The wedding and reception were recorded and moving pictures were made.

Mrs. Llorens, mother of the bride, was gowned in black net and lace. Her accessories were dusty pink, and her hat was fashioned of small pink roses. Her flowers were Briarcliff roses. Mrs. Mary Hooper, the groom's mother, wore a redingote of powder blue with white accessories and her flowers were gardenias.

The bride attended Girls' High school where she was a popular member of the Beta Upsilon Mu sorority. She has one brother, Joseph V. Llorens Jr., now with the United States Navy.

Mr. Johnson is the son of Mrs. Mary Hopper, of Atlanta, and R. F. Johnson, of Charlotte, N. C. He graduated with honors from Tech High and later attended Georgia Tech. He is now a radio mechanic technician with the Signal Corps.

Culbreth—Moyer.

COLQUITT, Ga., May 11.—Mr. and Mrs. Lester T. Culbreth announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Vigie Jewell Culbreth, to J. Harrell Moyer, of Lancaster, Pa., which took place on May 6.

Meeting Delayed.

Since the nutrition class is meeting at the clubhouse Friday morning, the executive board of the Grant Park Woman's Club will meet at 12 o'clock instead of 10 o'clock at the clubhouse.

Mrs. McKinnon To Preside At Meeting Here on May 23

A meeting of Women's Chamber of Commerce, members of the National Women's Chamber of Commerce of America, organized in Birmingham on June 4, 1940, will be held in Atlana, on May 23, with headquarters at the Ansley hotel. The local Women's Chamber of Commerce, with Mrs. Annie V. Werber, as president, will be the hostess organization, and an entertaining program has been planned.

Mrs. H. A. McKinnon, of Birmingham, national president, will preside and the business session opens at 9:30 o'clock. A preconvention executive board meeting will be held at 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Carolyn Seivers, appointed by Mrs. McKinnon, and by the local organization, to serve as general chairman, will call the meeting to order and present Mrs. Annie V. Werber, president of the local organization. Mrs. Ruby N. Davidson will give the invocation, and Mrs. Werber will extend welcome to visitors. She will introduce distinguished guests and present Mrs. McKinnon, national president. An election of officers will be held at the morning session.

Mrs. Werber will preside at the luncheon-meeting. Assisting Mrs. Seivers in handling details are Mrs. Sarah Mosteller, Miss Nell McDuffie, who will handle registrations; Mrs. Mary White, Miss Cepalie Lewis, credentials; Mrs. Ruby N. Davidson, program; Miss Sue Porter, Mrs. Margie Gillespy, entertainment; Mrs. Helen Coleman, music; Miss Katherine Griggs, Miss Mirion Horne and Miss Ruth McMillen, decorations.

Representing the local organization will be Mrs. Werber, Miss Tommie Parrish and Miss Cepalie Lewis, as delegates; alternates are Mrs. Ruby N. Davidson, Mrs. Mary White and Mrs. Sarah Mosteller. Miss Parrish is first vice president of the national organization; Mrs. Werber, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Seivers, parliamentarian.

Hoke Smith P.-T. A. Gives Tea Wednesday.

From 3-3:30 o'clock Wednesday, an informal tea will be held preceding the meeting of the Hoke Smith Jr. High P.-T. A. C. T. Stewart, assistant director of census and attendance for the Atlanta public schools, will speak on "Conserving Human Resources for Community Security" at the meeting.

What It Takes To Become Nurse's Aide

By Ida Jean Kain.

What this country needs right now is plenty of volunteer nurses' aides. Greater New York alone wants 10,000. And the national quota for the next year is set at 100,000. This may be your chance to get into the war.

The age limit for an aide is 18 to 50. I asked Mrs. William A. Rothholz, director of the Nurses' Aide Service for the American Red Cross in New York, to tell me what age group makes the best aides. She is inclined to believe that, as a rule, the women of 30 to 45 do best in this work. "Their children are old enough to be out of the way and they are glad to have something to do."

There is plenty to do. The course of training is hard enough and interesting enough to take your mind off your nerves. Just as a preliminary, you spend 35 hours receiving instruction from an A. R. C. supervisor. Then you put what you have learned into practice at some co-operating hospital.

The minimum requirement in the hospital is 14 hours per week. You have the choice of putting in two full days or five mornings. The full course adds up to 80 hours.

You always work under supervision. And you are restricted to such non-professional tasks as making beds and bathing patients. But convalescents are given more attention than ordinarily and the graduate nurses are released for more important work.

To become an aide, you must meet certain requirements. For example, you must pass a thorough physical examination—they want you able to stand up under a crisis, not keeling over in a faint when you're needed. Also, you must have a high school education and you must be a citizen either of the United States or of a friendly country.

In addition, you have to be able to put in plenty of time should the necessity arise. The national headquarters states in a bulletin that "aides will be needed on the home front as much as elsewhere, but they must be prepared to give generously of their time during a period of great need."

Keep in trim with Ida Jean Kain's "Business Girl's Daily Half Dozen." Send stamped return envelope for this leaflet to Miss Kain, The Constitution, Atlanta, Georgia.

MISS KATHERINE RUTH LESTER.

Miss Lester, who is a popular junior at Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio, will arrive by plane tomorrow to attend the final dances at Georgia Tech. Miss Lester is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Lester, of Atlanta.

POINTS FOR PARENTS

By Edythe Thomas Wallace.

Mother: "If you are nice to all the children and enjoy playing with them at school, you'll soon have friends you like as well as those you had where we used to live."

Mother: "You watch and see which one of the girls seems to be the most popular and start cultivating her. She'll help you get acquainted with the right people."

The child who is helped to think of friends as persons to be enjoyed will be more successful in making real friends than will the child who is taught to make friends of persons whom he can use.

Girl Acts Unwisely in Taking Boy'sFriendshipTooSeriously

By Dixie George.

Dear Dixie:

My girl friend is in love with a boy who lives in another town. Now here is the point: When she was there last summer he took her out, gave her a small gift for a souvenir from him, asked her not to forget him, asked her to write and even expressed his strong like for her, but not his love. Somehow she took his actions in the wrong way, and wrote him that she loved him as he loved her. When he did not answer, she sent his gift back and there was quite a row between them. Now she has learned that he really loves her, through someone else, and that his oldest brother, together with his wife, are causing the boy to be miserable and they are standing in his way like a stone wall. My friend is a nice girl, but why is it that this couple do not like her? I think they are jealous of her.

Now if the boy really cared for my friend, don't you think that he would write to her and tell her so and not let his brother and wife stand in his way? Should my friend forget about the boy, continue writing him, or try to meet someone else and try liking someone else, and even go so far as falling in love and marrying? SALLY.

Well, Sally, you certainly are bearing the burdens of your friend, for not once in the letter did you mention the fact that she was in the least worried over the situation. In the first place, she took the boy too seriously for he merely liked and admired her and I think she ruined her chances with him by telling him she loved him. It probably scared him and that is why she did not write her. I think it was foolish to return the gift, inasmuch as it was just a token of remembrance of a good time they had enjoyed. If he loves her he will write to her and make some amends for the recent spat. If he lets his brother and sister ruin his romances he has not much character and if I were your friend I would not worry so much about a man who is so easily swayed by others.

I see no reason why the correspondence should not be continued. Since there is no immediate plan of marriage, she need not forget him, but it would be wise to keep in circulation because one never knows when the man of their dreams will appear. I think you are rushing your friend a little too much in trying to decide a plan for her future. It is considerate of you but why not let her settle her affairs according to her own heart and mind?

Sherlock Holmes Will Go Modern In Movie About Hunt for Lord Haw Haw

By Louella O. Parsons.

HOLLYWOOD, May 11.—(INS) John Gunther, famed author of the "inside" books—inside Asia, Europe and South America—and a foreign correspondent as gifted as Richard Harding Davis was in his most colorful days, is writing a story of the Signal Corps for Colonel Darryl Zanuck. Interesting how the history of the branch of the service that deals with communications came to be made into a movie.

Here's the story: Colonel Zanuck was dining with Andy Lawlor, w. k. Hollywood agent, and discussing the fact that many of our Hollywood men, producers, directors, photographers, technicians and other studio folk are in the Signal Corps.. Andy outlined what he thought would be an effective movie dealing with the Signal Corps and the colonel thought the idea so good he promptly engaged Gunther to travel around the camps and write the scenario.

I hear through the grapevine that M-G-M is preparing a pro-Russian picture, the first of its kind, so far as I know, to come out of Hollywood. The title is "Guerrilla War," and it depicts the heroic deeds of the men and women of Russia who fight behind the lines and whose unorthodox warfare has helped give the whole world courage to know that the Axis nations have met their match.

The guerrilla fighters have in many ways been as effective as the regular Russian Armies and their bravery and epic courage is one of the inspiring sidelights of the present world holocaust.

Wonder is Universal's plan to modernize and completely remodel the "Sherlock Holmes" yarns will extend to substituting a cigaret holder for his famous pipe and a swanky "topper" for the good old visor-cap? I doubt if even "U" would go to these extremes—but they aren't kidding about bringing the famous sleuth up-to-date in "Sherlock Holmes Saves London." He will be on the trail of no less a menace than the notorious "Lord Haw Haw." (And come to think of it—what's happened to him?) Basil Rathbone and Nigel Bruce will again appear as Sherlock and Dr. Watson, respectively, carrying over the "detecting" they started at 20th Century to the Universal lot.

Somebody should do something drastic about Bob Hope before he knocks himself out. Frankly, Paramount is worried about his health and the fact that he never rests. Wonderful to have the spirit Bob has and want to do everything and be everywhere to raise funds and cheer our boys in camps and hospitals. But there is a limit to even his endurance. Bob's brand of laughter has put hundreds of thousands in Uncle Sam's treasury and it would be too bad if he had to stop his good work. So he should take a rest before he is forced to.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Ellen Drew is out of the hospital and resting at home to get her strength back so she can make a trip to Washington with Cy Bartlett; Van Heflin and Frances Neal have chosen Santa Barbara for their marriage next Friday; Bette Davis has put up her Glendale home for sale since her husband, Arthur Farnsworth, will be in the east for the duration; Sheila Ryan and John Payne as happy as can be in a corner at Slapsy Maxie's.

MY DAY: Reform School Boys Meet 'Job Problems

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

NEW YORK CITY, Sunday—The concert given by the Greenwich House Music School on Friday night in New York City was delightful. Mr. Frank Gullino, who has just signed a contract with the Philharmonic Orchestra and is one of the pupils of the school, played his violin in a masterly fashion.

Another young pupil composer, Mr. Gettel, an Army sergeant, was given leave from camp to conduct his own composition, so there was a touch of the war brought close to this entertainment.

In a large part yesterday, I did personal things, but I talked for a little while with Miss Viola Ilma, of the Young Men's Vocational Foundation. First we discussed the growing difficulty of raising funds to help boys coming out of reform schools to get jobs. Then we talked over the difficulties of their adjustment to the wartime atmosphere. Finally, we went over the fact that those who go into the Army, Navy and Marine Corps are happy and entirely content, missing only one thing—mail and packages from home.

So many reform school boys originally go wrong because of broken homes, or the death of parents, so it is not surprising to find that one boy in the Army writes to Miss Ilma: "I don't get any mail, but sometimes the other boys let me read their, and that feels good."

These boys with records cannot get into war industries. Yet records come up time after time when they are looking for jobs. Yet the only way to keep them from going back to the lives which put them into reform schools originally, is to get them jobs and keep them in them.

I have just been reading of an effort which is being made by a small group of Swedish-Americans to help raise funds for "Wings Over Norway, Inc." For years the Scandinavian countries have been admired so much here because of their accomplishments in science, art and social reform.

These countries—Finland, Norway, Denmark—are now under the heel of the conqueror. The Scandinavians in this country want to join together to assist their compatriots here who are still fighting for the United Nations.

Under title two of the second war powers act, the Secretary of the Treasury may receive gifts for certain purposes, and so he has given permission to this group to raise funds to be turned over to him as a gift to the United States, earmarked to the Lease-Lend Administration, through which planes may be obtained and delivered to "Camp Little Norway" and other camps in Canada where Norwegians are in training.

How To Control a Craving for Sweets

By Dr. William Brady.

Could you give some advice to those with an appetite for sweets beyond what is well for them, asks a reader, of course a feminine one. (Not that masculine readers do not want such advice, but just that they are generally less concerned about such things.) Are there any special foods, vitamins or substitutes for sweets which would help to correct the craving for sweets? (M. A. C.)

An insufficiency of the pituitary gland, common in women in the thirties, characterized by a pelvic or hip girdle of fat, little accumulation of fat in upper portion of body or even a gaunt appearance of face, and piano legs (thin ankles and fat calves), is usually accompanied with excessive craving for sweets, either constantly or in sprees during which the poor girl gorges herself and suffers remorse after the spree is over. What may bring this hypopituitarism on is conjectural. I have a notion, just a notion, that this type of obesity in young women may be due primarily to lack of iodine in adolescence. At any rate a suitable iodine ration helps many of these hypopituitary young women may be due primarily to lack of iodine in adolescence. At any rate, a suitable iodine ration helps many of these hypopituitary young women to normalize their contour.

It is now fairly well known that individuals whose vitamin intake is moderately low, are likely to have lowered capacity to utilize carbohydrate (starch, sugar) and even though they eat no more carbohydrate food than a normal individual should, they do not burn it as fuel, and the unoxidized carbohydrate piles up in blood and tissues. As they say, they don't "assimilate" their food, or don't get the "strength" from it. They crave still more food. And unfortunately the more refined carbohydrate they consume the greater is their need for vitamins (which refined carbohydrate foods do not contain), especially vitamin B complex.

It is the common experience for these young women with hypopituitary obesity to find, when they begin taking more vitamins to supplement their everyday diet, that they no longer crave such large qauntities of carbohydrate—sweets and things made largerly of refined white flour. They find that more moderate intake of food now satisfies, because the vitamins, especially B complex, tend to restore carbohydrate metabolism to normal and promote better assimilation, so the body gets the "strength" from food.

That's the gist of it as clearly as I can tell it in a few words.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Apology to Hog.

You used the expression "making a hog of yourself" in reference to overeating. This is wrong. You should say "Making a pig of yourself." A hog always knows when he has enough. (S. D.)

Answer—I'll apologize if Webster will.

Well, Then.

Doggone you, Dr. Brady, here I am at 64, a grandmother, and right back in the kitchen making yeast-raised buckwheat cakes for my children and my children's children. Why can't you let us grandmothers enjoy our old age in peace? (E. S.)

Answers—Not my fault if you revealed to the young uns that you can make 'em. I merely expressed regrets at the loss of the art. But I betcha the kids are glad.

Your Horoscope For Today

By ALICE DENTON JENNINGS.

March 21 and April 19 (ARIES)—Before 10:50 a. m., drastic tempers may be in evidence, and the period does not favor seeking co-operation from those who have a determined outlook.

April 20 and May 20 (TAURUS)—An especially favorable day for making friends with older and conservative people, for contacting those who are dependent and steadfast.

May 21 and June 20 (GEMINI)—The entire day is apt to be a busy, active time, but it is also a time when you may feel unsettled, have difficulty in making yourself properly understood. This will be a day to be careful of contracts and everything of a written nature.

June 21 and July 22 (CANCER)—Greater gain will be attained by sticking to routine matters today. Remain away from things that are not strictly above board and cannot stand the light of day.

July 23 and August 22 (LEO)—Between 9:37 and 6 p. m. favors general business and professional activities, matters pertaining to law, religion and philosophy. After 6 p. m. suggests care in driving.

August 23 and September 22 (VIRGO)—The favorable influences noted for yesterday continue until 7:10 a. m. After that hour and continuing throughout the day favors attention to ordinary details only.

September 23 and October 22 (LIBRA)—The morning hours and until 3 p. m. favor quick plans and dealings with people who are progressive. After this period favors dealings with loved ones and in dealings with women or affairs that pertain to women.

October 23 and November 21 (SCORPIO)—The combined influences of the day tend to produce a feeling of nervousness and erratic action. The day does not especially favor new beginnings. An excellent day to stick to established routine.

November 22 and December 21 (SAGITTARIUS)—Before 10:31 a. m. favors travel, quick decisions and changes. After 10:31 a. m. favors general business interests and for making harmonious arrangement with others.

December 22 and January 19 (CAPRICORN)—The entire day and evening does not especially favor new or important undertakings. An excellent day to stick to routine and finish those things already started.

January 20 and February 18 (AQUARIUS)—Previous to 12:19 noon favors appointments, meetitngs, financial affairs, public matters. After 12:19 noon favors attending to old duties, or matters that require patience or perseverance.

February 19 and March 20 (PISCES)—From 8:08 a. m. throughout the remainder of the day favors attending to routine.

P.-T. A. Groups Install Officers

S. R. Young.

At the April meeting of S. R. Young P.-T. A. Mrs. H. R. Bailey, president, reported on the Gainesville state convention. Mrs. Young Evans, second-grade teacher, presented a humane education program by her pupils. Barbara Dailey and Gwendolyn Weant recited, and piano selections were furnished by Emory Smith. Mrs. John Tate gave the devotional. Installation of next year's P.-T. A. officers will be held in the school auditorium May 19, conducted by Miss Kathleen Mitchell.

Girls' High.

Group discussions featured the recent meeting of the Girls' High P.-T. A. "Electives" were discussed by the freshmen parents and teachers; "Summer Schools" by the junior group, and "Continuing Education After Graduation" by the seniors. Mesdames L. R. Huffaker, F. U. Hill, W. R. Thomas, R. A. Ramsey, president, and Miss Lamar Jeter, principal, were in charge.

Girls and boys of junior and senior high schools are eligible to attend summer school at Girls' High, beginning June 12 and continuing through August 7, announced Miss Jeter. Students desiring to attend should register in their own school on or before Wednesday, June 3. Advanced and make up work is available in all subjects except art, Miss Jeter said. The hours are from 8:30 to 12:30 o'clock.

Miss Ethel Cockrell, member of the Girls' High faculty, spoke on the summer school, and Miss Lizabel Saxon, also a faculty member, talked on credits and courses. Mrs. Nell Hamilton Trotter, a representative of the University of Georgia Evening School, discussed the University System.

Spring Street.

President of Spring Street P.-T. A. for 1942-43 will be Mrs. Ralph Hefner, and elected to serve with her are: Mrs. Roy LeCraw, first vice president; Mrs. Joe Walker, second vice president; Mrs. J. W. Still, recording secretary; Mrs. John McConnell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Edwin Folk, treasurer.

The emergency shelf at Spring Street school is ready for air raids. The mothers have donated funds to furnish the shelf with a variety of foods.

The Cox P.-T. A. will sponsor a spring festival this month. At the State P.-T. A. convention Cox P.-T. A. was awarded a blue ribbon for the superior year's program. The silver cup awarded by the Fulton county association for outstanding study groups was won by Cox group.

Clairmont P.-T. A.

At a recent meeting of Clairmont P.-T. A. Mrs. Joe Weingartner, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following slate of officers: President, Mrs. D. R. Driscoll; first vice president, Ray Evans; second vice president, Mrs. J. C. Sylvester; recording secretary, Mrs. I. H. Wade; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John C. Hancock; treasurer, Joe Davis.

Mrs. W. H. Reinsmith, program chairman, introduced Dr. Malcolm Dewey, of Emory University, who discussed the "Value of Music in the Public Schools." Harold Singleton, accompanied by Herman Allison, both of Emory University, sang.

Navy Wives' Dinner.

Wives of members of the Atlanta Naval Reserve, which left a year ago, held a dinner at the Paradise room of the Henry Grady hotel recently. Those attending were Mesdames Paul DeWitt Coursey, F. Carl Barnes, Ben H. Berry, Jesse L. Johnson, J. Lamb Johnston Jr., C. Byron Farmer, V. P. Key, J. B. Adams, R. A. Bryan, and LeRoy O. Davis. Mrs. George W. Junior League School of Speech Correction Elects Nine New Directors at Board Meeting

Nine new directors of the Junior League School of Speech Correction were installed at the annual meeting of the board of directors, which was held yesterday at the Trust Company of Georgia. The newly elected directors include Clark Howell, W. E. Mitchell, Mrs. Howard Candler Sr., Mrs. Edwin McCarty, Mrs. William Parker, Mrs. Frank Harrold, Mrs. English Robinson, Mrs. Erroll Hay Jr. and Mrs. Eugene Pearce. Other members of the board are Robert Strickland and Judge Shepard Bryan.

Mrs. William Hamm, who was active in the establishment of the school and served as director for three years, was elected to honorary life membership on the board.

Mrs. Edwin McCarty was elected chairman of the board; Mrs. William Parker, secretary, and Mrs. Frank Harrold, treasurer. Mrs. Eugene Pearce was named director of the school for the coming year.

Mrs. Joseph Cooper Jr., chairman, who presided at the meeting announced that the Speech School had extended its service during the past year by increasing the enrollment one-third over its former capacity, and that 61 children are now receiving clinical training at the school. She also announced the addition of a new teacher during the past year and that a volunteer staff of 31 members assisted the professional staff of three. Two new classrooms will be added to the school next fall.

A progress report was presented by Mrs. Hamm, showing that several of the children who entered the school last fall have been completely rehabilitated and will be able to take their places as normal children at the conclusion of the school year in June. She also announced that the enrollment is being drawn from the following types of speech handicaps: deafness, oral inactivity, cleft palate, spastic, stuttering, aphasic, word deafness and lisping.

The retiring members present at the board meeting included Dr. J. E. Paullin, Mrs. Thomas K. Glenn, Mrs. Everard Richardson Jr., Mrs. Claude McGinnis Jr. and Mrs. Cooper.

ATHENS, Ga., May 11.—(AP)—Baseball letters will be awarded to 13 players at Georgia.

Coach J. B. Whitworth said they will be: Captain Clarence Welch, Charlie Anderson, Van Davis, Bobby Moore, Gus Letchas, Charlie Trippi, Jim Todd, Williard Boyd, Ace Parker, Cliff Kimsey, Frank Christie, Charles Seckinger and James Holbrook.

Carl Jackson 2d In Knoxville Shoot

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., May 11.—(AP)—John Dwelle, shooter from Charlotte, N. C., captured the state small-bore rifle championship here yesterday.

In winning the state diadem Dwelle had an aggregate score of 1,580.

Carl Jackson, Atlanta, who was a member of the international rifle team which beat an English team a few years ago, was second with 1,579.

High expert was John W. Perkins, Anniston, Ala., who had 1,578. A. S. Blankenship, Charlotte, was high sharpshooter with 1,565 and Fred Meredith, Elizabethton, Tenn., was high marksman with 1,546.

Famous Battery Invited by Phils

That once-famous baseball battery call may again be sounded on May 19 when the Philadelphia Phils and the Pittsburgh Pirates meet for the Army-Navy Relief Fund here May 19.

For the Phils today invited Grover Cleveland Alexander and his battery mate of long ago, Bill Killefer, to return to their club and help out on that day.

The management said if the guests can accept, they hope to let them show their stuff as an added attraction to the game.

All in the Game

By JACK TROY

Feuds A-Stirring There's unrest in the Ozarks, men. And a smouldering feud a-stirring in the Smokies. The Southern league is seeing more action than has been the case since the old, fiery days of the Tobasco Kid, Elberfeld.

There was talk of incarcerating our Manager Paul Richards for a heated run-in he had with an umpire at Little Rock. Richards was supported in his tirade by most of the Cracker cast.

There were no verbal punches pulled and there was talk of calling in the police. However, Richards went quietly after so long a time and the worst he got was a three-day suspension. I can't help but wonder how his performance stood up against some of those Kid Elberfeld staged the year he won the pennant for the Pebbles.

Anyway, Richards must have started something in the foothills of the Ozarks, for there was a story in the paper Sunday about a pitched battle between the Travelers and the Chattanooga Choo Choos.

There was no debate here. The boys started swinging and all hands joined in. There was no mention of the police. Which is a little inconsistent. If sharp talk calls for bluecoats, a free-for-all fight should warrant a little consideration as well.

Seems as though the Choo Choos, or Joe Engel's 19 children, are being challenged freely. There was a pop bottle demonstration in the Smokies in a game between Knoxville and Chattanooga recently.

Coach Rawmeat Rodgers was struck with one.

The Crackers have been pretty quick on the trigger with umpires and Nick Letchas of late has been banished as often as he has played.

A show of spirit and insistence on a square deal is a fine thing in a player, but the Crackers don't get much service out of Letchas when he sees the games from the edge of a grandstand or a vantage point in a tunnel.

Maybe the boys should let Skipper Richards do the bulk of the arguing henceforth. For when Richards is not available for duty the Crackers at least have a most desirable replacement in Doc Smith. Richards seems to manage as well from the clubhouse as he does from behind the plate.

Fine Race The prospect is for a six or seven-team race in the Southern league, with many an outburst likely before the flag fight is decided.

Personally, I don't see why a few run-ins involving umpires and rival players or both wouldn't be a good tonic for a game that needs punching up. The Ozark and Smoky Mountain incidents are just fine.

There was no outright rowdyism displayed. The players simply stood up and battled for what they considered their rights.

Isn't that what other Americans are doing today on the world's far-flung battlefronts?

Why should baseball evolute into such a prim and colorless spectacle as one sees on so many occasions? What's wrong in a little extra-curricular action?

They've staged more good battles out there than at any time since the days of Johnny Dobbs, whose baseball days locally were sprinkled with paprika and hot stuff.

We've heard league presidents such as Ford Frick lay down ultimatums that any challenging of an umpire's decision would be treated with harsh league action.

A player isn't going out of the way to ask for trouble. He'll take it rather than risk league disciplinary action.

From what we hear, Skipper Richards was let down with the least possible "sentence."

President Trammell Scott is not discouraging spirited play in the Southern league. In some cases, however, the boys may have to go a bit easier on their choice of language when addressing his nibs, the umpire.

After all, an umpire had a mother and a father like all the rest of us . . . and there are limits of human endurance. A player often takes advantage of a brother in blue, feeling he can call him anything and get off with a light fine and only a day out of the lineup.

Dorazio Beats Harry Bobo in 10-Round Bout

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—(AP) Harry Bobo's campaign for a title bout with Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis came to an abrupt end tonight, at least temporarily, when Gus Dorazio, a 13-to-5 underdog, pounded out a 10-round decision in a savage bout at the arena.

Bobo, hard-hitting Pittsburgh Negro who jumped into prominence recently with a one-round knockout of Lem Franklin, staggered the veteran Philadelphia Italian twice in the first round, but couldn't put over the finishing punch.

A crowd of 7,500 roared approval when the decision was announced.

Purples Crush G.M.A., 15 to 3, In Big Attack

Boys' High trampled G. M. A., 15-3, yesterday at Piedmont Park in a Big Five baseball contest.

The Purples piled up 21 hits against the Cadets and need only one victory to clinch the championship in the prep league. They will get their chance Friday afternoon in a battle with Tech High at Rose Bowl Field.

Clint Castleberry and Dendinger hit home runs yesterday, while Hughes had five-for-five against Mackey. Jenkins clouted two triples, one with the bases loaded.

Crackers, Barons Vie Tonight

Atlanta Takes Woddail Back From Indians

Stromme To Hurl Opener; Letchas Returns to Lineup.

By MELVIN PAZOL.

Floyd (Pa) Stromme will be on the mound tonight as the Crackers attempt to end a four-game losing streak and add more distance to their precarious one-game margin over those Nashville Vols. Birmingham comes here for a three-game series, with the first contest slated to start at 8:30 o'clock. It will be ladies' night.

Charley Letchas, second baseman who has been sorely missed, will be back in the lineup tonight after a suspension for a run-in with an umpire.

WODDAIL RETURNS.

Charlie Woddail, who was with the Crackers for the firs few days of the season, has been recalled from Savannah, President Earl Mann reported yesterday, and will be in the outfield tonight, probably centerfield. Woddail looked good during spring training, but it was thought he needed a little more experience. So, now, the Crackers, who gave him to the Indians, are taking him back.

The Cracker president is one man who hasn't gotten used to losing, and the present streak has him visibly disturbed. He can't understand how his team could drop four straight to a Memphis club that showed to be only fair on its recent trip here.

LOST LEAD FAST.

He pointed out that the team's lead had dive-bombed from 5½ games to only one in the space of a few days. Nashville is only a game back, and Memphis is barely a half game behind the Vols. All three teams have lost 13 games, with the Crackers showing 21 victories to 19 for Nashville and 18 for Memphis. Only 6½ games separate the Crackers from the seventh-place Barons, and John Riddle's boys hope to puzzle the Crackers as much as the Chicks did.

Following the Birmingham series, New Orleans comes here for games Friday, Saturday and a double-header on Sunday. Next Monday will be another off-day, and Knoxville blows into town for a two-day, three-game series next Tuesday and Wednesday. The Crackers hit the road after that, starting out at New Orleans.

State Makes No Case On Fishing 'Evidence'

So Apparently There Is Nothing Wrong in H. C. Norris Fishing Phoebe and His Own Lake.

Constitution Sports Editor.

There have been instances in the past where fishing pictures published in The Constitution were used as evidence by the State Game and Fish Department and cases made against the alleged offenders.

One case was that of David Mangrum, a local boy who chanced to catch a trout by the tail in a north Georgia lake.

Next day the state game and fish department swung into action. "Grabbling," they called it. They said it was against the law. A case was made . . . but never prosecuted, so far as we have been able to learn.

Another time we ran a picture of some fellow with a fish near Fayetteville, Ga. He had apparently caught it in a closed stream. A case was made against him . . . but he had been an offender on such other things as assault and battery, it was later learned.

The state game and fish department has been very consistent on our pictures—up to now.

ANOTHER MATTER.

However, we ran two pictures Sunday. One showed H. C. Norris fishing at Lake Phoebe, Oglethorpe, and the other showed him, in the same hour, fishing at his own Lake Norris.

It was a case of "legal vs. illegal." Either he was wrong fishing at Phoebe, which is declared open, or Norris, which is declared closed by the state game and fish department. They are both the same type of lake in the same county, DeKalb. But the state has left one open and closed the other.

We were determined to find out why and if Mr. Norris could not legally fish on his own property if he could legally fish at Oglethorpe.

STILL DON'T KNOW.

But we still don't know what's what. No case has been made this time. Apparently the state game and fish department doesn't know which way to turn. As usual.

The law isn't being enforced justly or properly or even consistently.

How does it happen that Phoebe still remains open and Norris must stay closed?

We consider the fact that no case has been made from the pictures of Norris fishing to be prima facie evidence or at least an admission that the state game and fish department is wrong.

And what is Mr. Cravey going to do about it?

Smithies Play G.M.A. Nine in Important Tilt

The unbeaten Boys' High nine, leader of the Big Five prep baseball loop, will rest on its laurels today and get ready for its final league game with Tech High Friday.

But not so the Smithies. Cecil Moon's crowd will journey to College Park to play Doc McKay's G. M. A. Cadets, and the Eighth Streeters will be hitting on all six to make sure there is no slip-up. They must win this one to have a chance to tie Boys' High for the league crown.

If the Blacksmiths cop the Cadet tilt, Boys' High must down the Smiths again Friday to take their second straight city title. If the Moonites bow today, they automatically hand the Purples the diadem.

In the only other league game today, Commercial will go over to Marist for a tussle.

'Baby Bums' Set Hot Pace Atop Ga.-Fla.

Valdosta Wins Again for 10th Triumph in 12 Starts.

AMERICUS, Ga., May 11.—(AP) Beating those "Baby Bums" from Valdosta is something like shutting a door on a Kansas cyclone—plenty tough and a little rough around the edges.

Seven Georgia-Florida League aggregations from second to eighth place have tried the trick. They've all been run down at least once by this prairie whirlwind, and only Dothan and Americus have been able to weather the storm. Dothan did it last week, 7-6. So did Americus, 3-2. But Valdosta played both of these games away from home.

At any rate, Stu Hofferth's crew hung up its 10th victory of the past 12 starts yesterday by trouncing second-place Dothan, 9-1, at Valdosta to keep a long jump ahead of the rest of the pack. Also yesterday, Moultrie beat Tallahassee, 8-1, at Tallahassee; Americus outlasted Albany, 11-9, at Americus, and in 13 innings Waycross and Cordele battled to a 7-7 tie called because of a Sunday 6 o'clock law.

McCann twirled the Valdostans to their easy win over Dothan, limiting the Brownies to five hits. The "Bums" got nine off West and Lazer and played errorless ball.

Moultrie Twirler Wright had little trouble with Tallahassee, limiting the Capitols to four knocks. Radney was socked for 10 Moultrie base blows, most of them bunched in the seventh when the Packers counted six times.

The Waycross-Cordele mix-up was a toe-tingling tiff. After trailing the first six innings without scoring a run, the Reds counted four in the seventh to tie it up. The end of the ninth found the clubs even again at 7-7, and then Pitchers Chambers, for Waycross, and Blackburn, for Cordele, tied up in a scoreless four innings. The game was called at the end of the 13th—no decision. Rasch helped Cordele's cause in the seventh with a homer.

Billy Conn Breaks Left Hand

Maulie Injured In Fight With Father-in-Law

Bout With Joe Louis in June Is Called Off by Mike Jacobs.

PITTSBURGH, May 11.—(AP)—Heavyweight Billy Conn displayed a broken left hand today and said he got it last night in a fight with his father-in-law, Jimmy Smith, when what Billy thought was to be a "love feast" ended in blows.

The injury—to Conn's mealticket Maulie—may blast Pittsburgh Billy's chance of meeting Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis in their second title match, slated for June 25.

Louis knocked out Conn in the 13th round of their fight last June. A few days later, Conn, braving the stormy objections of Smith, married Smith's daughter, Mary Louise, a former model. Billy and Jimmy, a former major league ball player, haven't had any kind words for each other since.

ANOTHER EXAMINATION.

The former light heavyweight champion's manager, Johnny Ray, said Conn's hand would be given another examination before a decision is made on kissing off—at least temporarily—the match with Louis.

Billy's hand, the rapier-like weapon which won him ring prominence, was heavily bandaged when he departed from New York today to resume his duty as an Army private. There were scratches on his face.

The Conn-Smith bout, in the kitchen of the Smith home, followed by a few hours a christening ceremony for the Conns' baby son. Conn, stationed at Fort Wadsworth, N. J., came home on furlough to attend the christening. He returned by plane to New York today to confer with Promoter Mike Jacobs.

Conn's version was this:

Smith, through a friend, invited him to the Smith home, with the explanation that he wanted to "bury the hatchet." Conn said:

"Well, I went over, but instead of a love feast it turned out to be the same old thing. He wanted to argue. We had some words in the kitchen and he said he had promised to give me a licking and he might as well do it then. He asked me if I wasn't afraid of him, and I asked him why I should be.

FRIENDS INTERVENE.

"He swung a punch at me and we closed in. I broke my hand hitting him on the top of the head and got all of these scratches in the face from his nails. Before I could do much damage to him his friends and relations pulled me off."

Manager Ray moaned:

"That's the second time Jimmy Smith knocked this kid out of the heavyweight championship of the world. You have no idea how his action before the fight last June upset Billy. He didn't sleep or eat for a couple of days before the fight and that kept his weight down. Now, when it looked like a sure thing that Billy would win in the returned bout, this has to happen."

And, Ray quipped:

"I didn't get any percentage from that Smith scrap."

When Smith first was informed last June that his daughter and Conn planned to marry he said he would "punch hell out of Billy."

"I can lick him and he knows it," said Smith at that time.

"Ever since Billy and I have been married our private life has been made public property. I don't want to be in the limelight. I have a young baby to raise and I want to be allowed to live like other people."

Jacobs Calls Off Conn-Louis Fight

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP)—Billy Conn broke his hand in a fight with his father-in-law in Pittsburgh last night, and plans for his June or early-July heavyweight title bout with oJe Louis were abandoned tonight.

In its place, Promoter Mike Jacobs will try to pair Louis with another contender, possibly Bob Pastor, and will set the Conn-Louis battle back to September.

Jacobs pointed out that no date had definitely been set yet for the Louis-Conn fight anyway. He also explained that the United States Army, in which both are privates, had given no official okay.

Conn arived from Pittsburgh by plane, his hand in a cast and his face scratched and went directly to Fort Wadsworth, Staten Island, where he is stationed.

SHOCK TROOP MAKERS.

Jimmy Crowley, of the Four Horsemen, Fordham, Cotton Bowl and Sugar Bowl games, is all set for the big thrill of his career. This will come when he reports to North Carolina University to direct the training condition of Naval Flying School cadets who are expected to face the most rigorous all-around training any set of young men have yet been called upon to face.

Fordham J. Crowley is only one of several famous coaches who have given up far larger salaries in order to prepare some 5,000 cadets for winning work by land or sea or air. Jimmy, who from time to time had been absorbing extra weight with the passing years, is now close to his old Notre Dame form when, with Stuhldreher, Layden and Miller, he insisted on going places each Saturday afternoon.

In line with such famous coaches as Bernie Bierman, Sam Barry and others, these shock troop makers are now about ready for work. They have been in hard training for months. With wives and children to support, they have given up money and ease and football fame for their country.

They have gone into this preparing game with a far greater spirit than they ever knew in trying to win football championships.

Jimmy Crowley Speaks.

"I don't know how good Hitler's trained youth and the Japs and the British Commandos are," Jimmy Crowley said. "I only know they must be extremely fit. I know they must be tough to handle. But I can tell you now they won't be in the same class with this bunch of young Americans we will soon have ready for action.

"I've seen these young Americans play football and other games since I was a kid at Notre Dame, around 20 years ago. I know how well they have been conditioned. But the boys we are going to handle will be a much tougher, rougher crew. When these men have finished each day's 10-hour test, it will be all they can handle—football, boxing, wrestling, basketball, cross-country running and a few other competitive turns."

Racing's Mistakes.

"We are the ones who are taking the main rap from racing's war mistake," a well-known owner and breeder told me.

"Each track should give up at least one big day to the war effort. There should be at least 20 such days through the season. But track owners have fallen far short of this mark, and outside of the loss to war charities, horse owners and breeders will have to pay a heavy penalty later on—a penalty for which they are in no way responsible.

"Racing hasn't even started to make good, as other sports have done. We know it, but what can we do about it? Nothing. We'd only like to have the public know that racing's lagging, halting war efforts are not the fault of horse owners and breeders. We don't happen to own the tracks."

Another War Dip.

There are around 5,000 golf clubs in the country. After an appeal from the Red Cross to give their share of help in the coming Memorial Day nation-wide tournament, only 500 have taken the trouble to reply.

This means a 90 per cent deficit—a shocking lapse on the part of 4,500 clubs which have little time left in which to emerge from their coma.

Golf's Big Chance.

There are supposed to be around 3,000,000 golfers in the United States. When the Memorial Day tournament for the Red Cross comes along this list should raise at least $1,000,000. This should come from a third of the golfing group sending in only a dollar.

Golf pros and such helpers as Bing Crosby and Bob Hope are doing their full share. But it is from the great mass of golfers that the main help must come, and this mass will be expected to show a far greater interest in the war effort than their clubs have shown so far.

Jones-Hagen-Sarazen.

The U. S. G. A. is more than willing to carry out the idea that Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen and Gene Sarazen play together in at least one round for a special trophy.

This takes place in the Hale American tournament, set for June in Chicago, where the net proceeds go to the Navy and the U. S. O. And it wouldn't be a bad idea to have the U. S. O. use their share for athletic equipment so badly needed in so many Army camps.

(AP)—Knoxville Manager Bert Niehoff announced today the acquisition of John Tyler, outfielder, and said the new member of the Smokies was expected to report in time for the series opener with Little Rock tomorrow. Tyler, who has been with Toronto, of the International league, played with Knoxville several seasons ago.

SOLDIERS WIN, 4-0.

Sunday Crowds Offset Losses On Week Days

Majors Encouraged by Turnouts on Holidays During Wartime.

By JUDSON BAILEY.

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP)—More than the early developments in the pennant races, what interests baseball men most these days are the Sunday attendance figures in the major leagues.

Before the season opened several magnates expressed the common belief that the crowds either would be very good or very bad. Nobody knew which to expect, but nobody expected the war to have any half-way effect.

Now it appears that the result is going to be small turnouts on weekdays and big business on Sundays.

Yesterday 183,879 fans turned out for eight games, producing a crowd of more than 20,000 at every park except St. Louis, which had 6,362, a goodly throng for a home game of the Browns.

The record for the three previous Sundays shows 222,744 on May 3, 211,972 on April 26, and 134,247 April 19.

If these crowds had been lured by irresistible attractions involving first place in the standings or the appearance of some individual magnet like Babe Ruth, Dizzy Dean or Bobby Feller were in their day, the figures might not have surprised observers.

However, the largest crowd of the season, 68,394 including 2,590 soldiers and sailors, was the one that jammed Yankee stadium Sunday before last to see the Yanks play the dismal-looking Chicago White Sox. Manager Jimmy Dykes said this was the only nice thing that happened to the Sox on the whole eastern trip.

On Sunday, April 26, 48,631 fans paid their way into the Polo Grounds to see the Giants and Boston Braves, and the same day the St. Louis Browns and Detroit Tigers drew 42,698 at Detroit.

Big crowds like these have more than offset the dwindling count on weekdays. And since they have been recurring Sunday after Sunday with little or no regard for the caliber of the rivalry, the only conclusion club owners draw is that people still want to see baseball whenever they can get the opportunity.

This is likely to have two results—first the postponement of many weekday games to make Sunday double-headers; and second the scheduling of twilight contests during the week for the convenience of workers.

The Navy Relief game of the Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers was a great success at a 4:45 p. m. starting time. In the event night baseball is blacked out in New York, both the Giants and Dodgers are considering a twilight trial. Cleveland already has made plans for playing some twilight games, and if these clubs are successful others may follow suit.

Moody Captures Badminton Title

Atlantans in the southern Y. M. C. A. badminton tournament held last weekend in Augusta, annexed two first places and runner-up positions in the other three events staged.

Leonard Moody won the men's singles by defeating Beckman, of Savannah, in the finals and paired with Miss Nancy McLarty to win the mixed doubles over Robinson and Mrs. Blanton, of Augusta. Miss McLarty last a close match to Mrs. Blanton in the women's singles and paired with Mrs. Leonard Dobson to lose the ladies' doubles title to Mrs. Blanton and Mulherin, of Augusta.

Beckman and Horton, of Savannah, defeated Dr. Cleckley, Augusta, and Moody, in the finals of the men's doubles.

PRIVATE BUCK .·. By Clyde Lewis

The Army and Navy in Georgia

Riley D. Powell, United Press Bureau manager at Charleston, S. C., has been sworn in as lieutenant, junior grade, in the Naval Reserve and will be attached to the public relations section of the Sixth Naval District in Charleston. Powell is the son of Mrs. Bennie D. Powell, of Lawrenceville.

"BUDDY LETTER" PRAISED BY SERVICE MAN.

Charles A. Cannon, of Atlanta, has written from San Diego, Cal., where he is stationed with the Ryan School of Aeronautics, praising the weekly "Buddy Letter" printed in The Constitution to give the men in service the news from home in concise form.

His letter follows:

"This letter is to let you know of another one who is receiving the weekly news round-up in your Sunday paper for us fellows in the service. No one knows how much they miss the home town 'bull' when they get away and hardly ever hear of the place.

"I think it is very good and I know many who don't have the time to write and thank you. I hope you keep it up and I know my folks back home will keep sending it."

PERSONALS.

Private First Class Raiford E. New, of Harrison, Ga., has been promoted to the rank of sergeant. He is with the Second Chemical Company, Barksdale Field, La.

Warren T. Jackson, former teacher at North Fulton High school, has been promoted from second to first lieutenant at the Quartermaster School, Camp Lee, Va. A Thomasville boy, he was graduated from Emory University.

Four young Georgians have arrived at the Armored Force Training Center at Fort Knox, Ky., to take a course in technical service. They are Privates Leon G. Prattes, of 554 Pryor street, S. W.; Raymond M. Benshushen, of 772 Capitol avenue, S. W.; Everett E. Norton Jr., of Lithonia, and Julian H. Slade, of Meansville.

Troup Jury Raps Pardon 'Racket'

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

LAGRANGE, Ga., May 11.—Troup superior court was resumed on Monday for trial of cases on the criminal docket of the May term. Judge Lee B. Wyatt, of LaGrange, presided, with Solicitor General William Y. Atkinson, of Newnan, in charge of prosecutions.

The Troup grand jury rapped the pardon "racket" of the state of Georgia in their presentments returned last week, and urged that legislation be set in motion that would eradicate this evil from our government. They also urged the early and constant buying of United States war bonds and stamps by every citizen of Troup county to assist our nation in the war effort.

'Science Fair' For Youths To Begin Today

Work Will Be Exhibited at Fernbank Children's Museum.

Young Atlanta scientists will exhibit their work at Atlanta's first "science fair" starting today at Fernbank Children's Museum, 849 Clifton road.

Elementary, junior high school and high school youngsters from Atlanta, Fulton, DeKalb, Clayton and Cobb counties will participate in the fair, which has been in preparation for months. Final exhibits were set up yesterday.

The fair will be open to the public through May 30. Directors of the project include Mrs. Hugh Harris, curator of Fernbank museum; Miss Gladys Proctor, of Girls' High, and Miss Hattie Rainwater, of J. Allen Couch school.

TO SEEK PRIORITIES.

The Atlanta board of education is slated today to request priorities on critical building materials needed to reconstruct the fire-razed Maddox Junior High school and to build a new Murphy Junior High school. The meeting will begin at 3 o'clock on the eleventh floor of the city hall. Building and grounds committee members last week recommended the action, and board approval was regarded as a foregone conclusion, it was said.

W. W. DeLany, Former Phone Official, Dies

74-Year-Old Atlantan Also Was Head of Insurance Firm.

W. W. DeLany, 74, former superintendent of equipment for Southern Bell Telephone Company, with which he was connected for 49 years, and later head of the DeLany Insurance Agency, died unexpectedly late Sunday night at his residence, 2710 Memorial drive, S. E.

A native of South Carolina, he came here as a boy and joined the Bell company. He held various positions with the company and as superintendent of equipment installed most of the larger exchanges of the company. At the time of his retirement eight years ago, no employe had served as long as he had and the company gave him a special award for his long service.

After leaving Southern Bell he formed the DeLany Insurance Agency.

He was a charter member of the Atlanta Athletic Club and East Lake Country Club. He was a member of Piedmont Lodge No. 477, F. & A. M., of which he served as high priest, and the Decatur Chapter No. 119, Royal Arch Masons. He was a member of the First Baptist church.

Survivors include three sons, W. H. and T. G. DeLany, both of Atlanta, and C. I. DeLany, of West Palm Beach, Fla.; one daughter, Mrs. R. D. Morris, of Wilmington, Del.; two brothers, R. E. DeLany, of Alpharetta, and D. C. DeLany, of Birmingham, Ala.; two sisters, Mrs. Charles D. Wood and Mrs Irene Foster, both of Atlanta, and eight grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by Howard L. Carmichael.

Miss Lamour Smiles, Bond Response Soars

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., May 11—(AP)—Dorothy Lamour's smiles got pledges of $1,000,000 in war bonds so easily today that the sales committee doubled the Huntington quota for United Action Day to $2,000,000.

"This is the greatest demonstration we have seen in our tour across the nation," said James S. Moran, of the Treasury Department, after struggling crowds broke up a parade to follow the actress' car.

Sales Chairman Paul P. Pancake, describing the program as "a $10 show free of charge," said "not only did we pass the million-dollar mark at a sales meeting that had been planned only as an added feature, but hundreds were left holding pledges when we adjourned."

The principal bond-selling rally was slated for tonight and Pancake was confident the revised quota would be achieved.

Claims Domesticity, Wins Alimony Suit

James Wilson testified in Fulton domestic relations court before Judge Walter C. Hendrix yesterday that during his entire married life of two years he had scrubbed the floors and washed both dishes and clothes in his household.

His wife, Mrs. Margaret L. Wilson, was suing him for temporary alimony. After hearing the defendant's testimony, Judge Hendrix rejected the petitioner's suit.

Retired Banker Is Dead at 85 At LaGrange

N. R. Hutchinson Was Prominent Pioneer; Ill Two Weeks.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

LAGRANGE, Ga., May 11.—Nathaniel Robert Hutchinson, pioneer citizen of this community, died this afternoon at the age of 85 at the home of his son, Tom Hutchinson, of 401 College avenue, following an illness of two weeks.

Hutchinson retired several years ago after having been associated for half a century with banking and textile interests of LaGrange.

He was a native of Harris county and came here as a young man. He had lived here for about 50 years. His father was the late Nathaniel Hutchinson, farmer and educator, and his late mother was the former Miss Elizabeth Hall. Both his parents were members of pioneer Harris county families.

Hutchinson's wife, Mrs. Pauline Witherspoon Hutchinson, died many years ago. She was well known in this section as a vocalist.

Besides his son, Tom, he is survived by two other sons, Paul and Frank; a brother, William M. Hutchinson, of Atlanta; and two sisters, Miss Ella Hutchinson, of College Park, and Mrs. Katherine Stiles, of Arlington, Va.

Turkey Faces Axis Activity With Serenity

Preparations Aimed at 'Decisive' Moves Reported by Berlin.

LONDON, Tuesday, May 12.—(AP)—Berlin dispatches reaching London by way of Ankara today said Hitler was nearly ready with military and political preparations aimed at "decisive action which will determine the issue of the war."

"Such actions will be begun suddenly in different directions with lightning speed," Reuters quoted a dispatch from the Berlin correspondent of the Turkish news agency.

Despite these reports the calm with which Turkey views the situation was shown by the fact that the largest hotel in Ankara is demolishing its air raid shelter, Reuters said.

It was explained that Turkish confidence is based in the first place on lack of Axis military preparations in the Balkans, and second, by the belief that Germany has suffered so heavily in Russia that she cannot afford to open a new war theater.

Capitol Showing Air Corps Film

In co-operation with the Army air forces, the Capitol theater now is offering through Thursday, as a special added attraction, the two-reel subject, "Winning Your Wings," official Air Corps film and one of the most comprehensive and instructive as well as entertaining films ever made in connection with aviation cadet training.

The film, produced under supervision of Warner Brothers studios, features Lieutenant James Stewart, former Hollywood star now in the Air Corps, who outlines the entire aviation cadet training set-up for men 18 to 26 years of age inclusive.

MONKEY BUSINESS—Only a few weeks old, Skipper, Denver city park's cub bear, was placed on the monkey island for the summer as the zoo season opened. All was well until the long arms of Moon the monkey reached in Skipper's direction. That was more than Skipper could bear. He scampered and barely reached his hutch.

"TROUT" AT CORREGIDOR.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—The submarine Trout sneaked through the Japanese blockade to carry badly-needed antiaircraft ammunition to embattled Corregidor during the first days of February, Lieutenant Colonel Warren J. Cleer, U. S. Army, retired, revealed last night in an NBC broadcast.

Insanity Plea To Be Made For Slayer

Trial Opens for Youth Who Shot Girl in Theater.

CHICAGO, May 11.—(AP)—Clarence McDonald, 17, went on trial today on a charge of murdering his beautiful high school sweetheart in a Loop movie house, but proceedings were interrupted by an argument over his sanity.

A jury was being selected when Attorney Donald D. Rogers stated the defense would seek to show the debonair youth was insane when he shot 17-year-old Dorothy Broz to death and that he was insane now.

Prosecutors made an issue of that point. They asked Chief Justice Robert J. Dunne, of the criminal court, to impanel a jury immediately to determine McDonalds' mental condition. Rogers objected. The judge agreed to rule on the motion tomorrow.

Miss Broz was slain last February 24 in the balcony of the Palace theater. The state contended that he killed her because he was jealous and served notice that it would demand the death penalty.

GIRAUD STILL IN VICHY.

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP)—Private advices reaching the Associated Press in New York today said that according to the best available information General Henri Honore Giraud, the French soldier who presented Pierre Laval with a dilemma by escaping from a German war prison, was still in Vichy, France.

Don't Let Sugar Tickets Pile Up!

Now, look, ladies, about this sugar rationing—

Don't think you can buy your sugar in large quantities just by saving the back rationing coupons and presenting several to the grocer at once.

Rationing officials pointed out last night that each coupon has an allotted time in which it is valid. After the date designated is past, the ticket is no good.

Scout Aids Boy Bitten by Snake

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

ATHENS, Ga., May 11.—The Boy Scouts don't need a "plug" but here's one anyway because it was the training given Scouts that probably saved the life of Elliott Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Morris, of this city.

A few afternoons ago Elliott, with several other youngsters, was enjoying an afternoon in the woods. Walking along a river bank Elliott was bitten on the wrist by a snake.

Luckily for Elliott, George Collier, a Scout in the troop sponsored by First Methodist church, was on the opposite side of the river, heard the excitement.

Young Collier crossed the river, applied a tourniquet, and, not having a knife, broke a glass bottle and with a sharp fragment lanced the fang holes and applied suction to extract the poison.

Toccoa Hospital To Hold Open House

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

TOCCOA, Ga., May 11.—The Stephens County hospital, in Toccoa, will hold an open house Tuesday in commemoration of National Hospital Day, Mrs. C. W. Martin, superintendent of the institution announces.

Friends, former patients and those interested are invited to attend the open house and will be conducted through the many departments and shown the equipment and service possible in hospital routine. Much new equipment has been added in the past year and this will also be inspected by the visitors.

You can pick up many bargains by picking up and reading the Want Ad Pages of The Constitution.

SURE YOU INHALE!
SO—BE SURE ABOUT YOUR CIGARETTE

Proved and reported by eminent doctors who compared the leading popular cigarettes:

IN STRIKING CONTRAST TO PHILIP MORRIS—IRRITANT EFFECTS OF THE FOUR OTHER LEADING BRANDS AVERAGED MORE THAN THREE TIMES AS HIGH—AND LASTED MORE THAN FIVE TIMES AS LONG!

A basic difference in manufacture makes PHILIP MORRIS better for your nose and throat—besides being better tasting!
